Police Investigate Tip Remington Involved In Portland Case

REVEAL PLANS FOR BOOZE TRUCK LINE

Former Associate Tells of Victims Appeal for Large Loan

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—Reports that Earle Remington several months ago was involved in a "booze scandal" in Portland, Ore., were investigated today by local police.

They declared that a man named Remington was said to have been implicated in Portland, and are asking the Portland police to determine whether the man was Earle Remington.

It was learned today that Remington was greatly in fear of his life three months ago, and had expressed his fears to a certain business associate. He later tried to interest this associate in the liquor ring, the man informed the police, and tried to negotiate a loan for the purchase of trucks to run liquor over the border. The loan was refused.

"There are several heads of the coast liquor ring whom we want to question," said Detective Captain Home today. "They are all 'under cover' now, but as soon as we can knock one over, we believe we will be close to a solution of Remington's death."

The code of silence of the underworld today tightened about the "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" mystery murder which ended the life of Remington.

In the hands of the police are all the elements of a solution, but thus far this has been precluded by the fact that the men who are believed to hold the key have themselves long been sought by the police.

The threads of the mystery today led to Hollywood, where a man doing a huge liquor trade in the film colony, and who is believed to have been associated with the slain clubman and aviator, has disappeared. A check of a number of those known to have been his clients revealed, according to the police, that he has not served their liquor wants since a day or so following Remington's death.

Suspicion that Remington was connected with the Hollywood "dope" ring, which also operates as a liquor ring, was not borne out by a quiet investigation which had been made by officials, it was learned.

PORTLAND OFFICIALS DENY KNOWLEDGE OF REMINGTON.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 24.—Earle Remington, clubman of Los Angeles, murdered under mysterious circumstances several days ago and now reported to have been involved in an alleged liquor scandal here, is not known under that name to officials of the United States prohibition directors office, the sheriff of Multnomah county or the Portland city police, those officials declared today.

Gothamites Face Coal Famine as Zero Spell Threatens City

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—New York city is facing a "most desperate fuel situation" with the coldest weather of the winter at hand, the fuel administration announced today. Barges carrying more than 100,000 tons of anthracite are frozen in the Hudson river and ice jams have completely cut off these supplies.

The best the city can expect is about one-half of the minimum amount of coal needed, administration officials asserted.

Plenty of substitutes for anthracite are lying on the Jersey docks, but the clogged river prevents moving them.

The mercury is dropping rapidly and zero is expected to be reached today.

Witness Tells of Alleged Confession of Captured Fugitive on Way to L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—"Little Phil" Alquin, charged with killing Detective Sergeant John J. Fitzgerald, was held to answer to the murder charge in superior court after his preliminary hearing today.

Alquin was recently brought back from Mexico in exchange for Catherine, Herbert and Fernando Uribe, sons of a Mexican official, who had been held here on charges of auto theft.

Alquin was held following testimony by Captain Claude Smith, of El Paso, who aided Chief of Police Oaks in arranging the Alquin deal, and in bringing the prisoner back from Freeport, Texas.

Smith reported a train conversation with Alquin, in which Alquin was declared to have admitted the shooting.

HOLD THREE IN $90,000 GOLD THEFT PLOT

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 24.—A plot to rob the Denver museum of $90,000 worth of lead gold was frustrated with the arrest last night of three men giving the names of C. H. Burton, Tom Bullock and C. E. McLain.

The three, according to police, admitted having planned to break into the museum some time during the night. They were to slub the night watchman, they said, blow the safe containing the gold and make their escape in an automobile.

Police were "tipped" on the proposed holdup and immediately rounded up the three men. Headquarters refused to give the source of the information on the plot.

An automobile in possession of the men, contained a rope, blankets, arms and ammunition as well as explosives, police said.

Police Reveal Woman Held Insurance for $5000 in Husband's Favor

SANTA CRUZ, Feb. 24.—Formal charges of first degree murder were filed here today against J. R. Masters, realty dealer, whose wife, Elizabeth Masters, died early today from the effects of beating she suffered Thursday night.

Masters, who told officers a burglar attacked his wife, has been in custody since early Friday morning.

(By United Press Leased Wire) SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Feb. 24.—Mrs. J. R. Masters, who was mysteriously beaten at her home here during Thursday night, died at a hospital at 2 a. m. today.

Her husband, J. R. Masters, realty broker, who told the police that two men, supposedly burglars, had broken into his home and one had attacked him while he was grappling with the other, was held in custody at the city jail while the police and the district attorney continued their investigations.

Masters held firmly to his story to the police today throughout continued questioning.

Had $5000 insurance. Police declared that their investigation revealed Mrs. Masters carried $5,000 life insurance in favor of her husband.

Police during the afternoon questioned a woman they said they had learned had been a close associate of Masters for several months. The woman, however, was quoted as denying her relations with Masters went beyond business acquaintance.

Stories told by two children, Helen, aged 9, and Ray, aged 17, of J. R. Masters, constitute the foundation on which police are holding Masters.

Helen, police said, was the first person to enter the bedroom where Masters and his wife had been sleeping, after Mrs. Masters was injured.

"I was awakened by Mama's groans," police quoted Helen as having told them. "I went to her bedroom and knocked, and called 'What is it mama?' and I heard papa say 'wait a minute' but I pushed open the door."

"Our mama was on the floor and papa was on the bed wiping blood from the pillow."

"Call your brother and get a doctor quick," papa told me. I went upstairs and called Ray, my brother and then we called a doctor and the police."

OPEN BATTLE ON CIGARETTE LAW IN UTAH

Salt Lake Smokers Call Meeting to Urge Legislature to Repeal Measure.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 24.—Demands for the repeal of the now famous Utah anti-cigarette law, were to be voiced here today in a mass meeting at which all who smoke are welcome.

The meeting called by opponents of the law, is expected to demand immediate action by the legislature removing the measure from the statute books.

In the meantime there seemed to be an abatement of the campaign launched against smokers by Sheriff Frank Harries. No arrests had been reported for more than twenty-four hours.

Cigarette "bootleggers" were reported doing a flourishing business, although far less openly than previously.

ASKS SWEEPING REVISION IN RAIL LAWS

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Complete reversal of all existing governmental policies regarding railroads is provided in a bill introduced today by Senator Brookhart, Iowa, and referred to the senate interstate commerce committee.

Brookhart said President Harding should call an extra session to consider it.

The bill would repeal practically all the vital sections of the Esch-Cummings transportation act and would amend the former law on valuation so that the basis for railroad valuation in future would become the fair market value of the road's securities. This, Brookhart said, would take $7,000,000,000 in water out of railroad valuation.

"Owing to the critical condition of the agricultural districts of this country which is caused to a great extent by high freight rates, I feel that the president should immediately call an extra session of congress for the consideration of this railroad legislation," said Brookhart.

"I have noted in the public press, a statement from the chairman of the interstate commerce commission of the senate in which he predicts that it will take six months for the consideration of this legislation and I believe this should be taken up at the earliest possible moment in order that the great farming communities may secure the relief to which they are justly entitled and relieve the traveling public and the shippers in general."

FOUR HURT IN BIG FILM CIRCUS FIRE

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—Four persons were seriously injured and eight received minor cuts and bruises when a six horse team, attached to a blazing circus wagon, ran away and dashed through a crowd of extras at the Goldwyn Studio last night during the burning of a circus tent in the filming of a new picture.

Those seriously injured are Harry Burns, who attempted to rescue a woman from under the feet of the horses; Joan Lowell, Mrs. Esther Byers and Layelle Bonner.

NEW LEAGUE WAR LOOMS IN SENATE

President Asks Congress to Take Part in International Body.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—President Harding today asked the senate to make the United States a full fledged member of the permanent court of international justice at The Hague which was established under the league of nations covenant.

In a message to the senate, the executive asked that assent be given to American adhesion to the protocol of the international tribunal.

Four reservations were suggested by Secretary of State Hughes in a letter accompanying the President's message.

These were: 1.—That it is understood action by the senate giving assent to the court's protocol does not involve any legal relation on the part of the United States to the league of nations or the assumption of any obligations under the league covenant.

2.—That the United States be given the right to vote in the election of judges—a right now given only to those nations which are members of the league.

3.—That the United States will (Continued on page 2)

INVITE STATE Y TO S. A. FOR 1924 MEET

The annual state convention of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in Santa Ana next year, according to advice received here today.

The invitation, extended by J. P. Baumgartner and seconded by Harry Henderson, secretary of the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. was unanimously accepted by the convention in session at Santa Barbara today.

Although the date remains to be fixed, it was thought the convention would assemble here about this time next year.

Within a few hours after business began today at the convention of the State Y. M. C. A. at Santa Barbara, J. P. Baumgartner, representing Santa Ana, extended an invitation to the association to hold its 1924 convention in Santa Ana.

Delegates from all over California assembled in the convention hall at 9 a. m. today. Immediately they plunged into business. S. H. Finley, president of the S. A. Y., led the Santa Ana delegation pledged to efforts to bring the convention here next year.

When the time came, Baumgartner, introduced with a few brief remarks, told the convention of the invitation extended by Santa Ana through the medium of a resolution adopted by the Chamber of Commerce here. It said: "At a meeting of the board of directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, held February 21, a resolution was adopted, cordially inviting the Young Men's Christian association to convene in Santa Ana in 1924."

Diamond Broker Loses $100,000 In Gems In Traps Set by Thugs

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Henry C. Hart, diamond broker of New York was held up and robbed of $100,000 worth of diamonds by two masked bandits here today.

The bandits accosted Hart as he was entering the Times building in answer to a fake telephone message. He was thrown into the elevator and taken to the sixth floor where the robbers seized his two cases containing the gems. They also stripped his fingers of a diamond ring valued at $1,100.

Feeling Runs High in El Paso Election as Klan Crux in Mayoralty Contest.

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 24.—Special police were on guard today as El Paso went to the polls in an election expected to determine the political strength of the Ku Klux Klan in the border country.

El Paso reverted to the days of the old west with men from the plains, leaders and others carrying bulky revolvers as they went to the voting places. Police officers openly admitted that there were more armed men in El Paso today than in a decade. Business houses were closed and work suspended as crowds of men made round after round of polling places to watch the progress of the voting.

The situation is the result of a bitter mayoralty fight. R. M. Dudley, president pro tem of the Texas senate is leading an anti-Klan force as their candidate for mayor. He is opposed by a slate admittedly favorable to the Ku Klux Klan, headed by P. E. Gardner, an attorney.

ARREST KIN OF FUGITIVE IN BANK CRASH

(By United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—A warrant charging embezzlement of funds of a national bank was issued today for Abraham Goldman, father-in-law of Joseph M. Marcino, alleged wrecker of the First National Bank of Warren, Mass.

Investigation of the affairs of Marcino, shifted to Italy today. Authorities attempted to discover where the 26 year old Italian obtained capital of $100,000 to launch his first banking venture.

Israel Berkman, Chicago attorney, informed Burns agents in charge of the investigation that Marcino returned from Italy in 1921 with at least $100,000.

Berkman and his associates acted for the young Ponzi in his negotiations for the Niagara insurance company of Buffalo. Berkman declared that while these negotiations were on Marcino bought banks in Fairmount, Ind., and Weyauwega, Wis., losing $37,000 on the ventures.

Authorities, checking Marcino's accounts today, declared he had at least $200,000 in his possession.

JAIL ARNSTEIN AS BOND PLOT SUSPECT

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Nicky Arnstein, convicted in Washington, D. C. as the "master mind" in a $5,000,000 bond plot, was held without bail and five other men arrested with him are at liberty under $2,500 bail each today, because, police declare, they could not account for bonds and securities found in their possession.

The five men who were taken by detectives at a Broadway hotel, with a woman, who was released, were charged on the police blotter with grand larceny.

Leader of Administration Forces Gives Palm to Enemies

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The defeat of the ship subsidy bill at this session of congress was openly conceded by administration forces today.

Senator Jones of Washington, in charge of the measure, made this announcement to the senate stating he had given up the fight for the bill.

Even should the senate on Monday vote to proceed again to consider the bill, Jones gave notice he would support a motion to lay it aside for consideration of other business.

"I am ready to end this matter right now," said Jones. "I know when I am beaten and I recognize that the end has come."

Jones promised the bill would not be considered any further at this session of the congress.

He asked, however, that its victorious enemies refrain from recommitting to the commerce committee.

"I hope it will not be sent back to the committee," said Jones. "The commerce committee has already considered it fully and in any event a new bill will have to be introduced in the next congress and referred to the committee. Those of us who favor the bill will vote to take it up when my motion comes to a vote Monday. We will do that, simply to make the record clear. Even if the senate should vote to take it up, I will immediately support a motion to take up the filled milk bill or other business, displacing the ship bill."

Senator Borah suggested it was needless to wait until Monday, in view of the surrender of the subsidy forces.

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, then suggested a vote be taken at once on a motion to recommit, but Jones said he would insist that his motion be disposed of first.

Jones statement, however, had removed the last doubt that all further efforts to pass subsidy at this session had been abandoned.

Shortly after Jones' announcement the senate began voting on motions affecting the final disposition of the subsidy. By a vote of 46 to 38 the senate voted in favor of taking up the subsidy. This, it is believed, paved the way for the motion to recommit the bill.

Senator Robinson, Arkansas, moved to recommit the bill but under an agreement the vote went over until Monday. The senate, under the agreement, turned from the subsidy and took up calendar bills.

OPEN INQUIRY INTO BLAZE FATAL TO 13

KANSAS CITY, Kansas, Feb. 24.—Officials began an investigation today to determine responsibility for a fire here yesterday in which thirteen persons lost their lives.

Witnesses were summoned to appear before the county prosecutor and state fire marshal, following affidavits charging that T. C. Hatley, owner of a garage on the first floor of the burned building, was drinking liquor a few hours before the fire was discovered.

Thirty-five men, women and children were asleep on the second floor of the building when the fire broke out. Many escaped by jumping from windows.

INSTRUMENTS SHOW QUAKE IN PACIFIC

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 24.—Earth tremors were recorded on the seismograph at St. Ignace College here early today, university officials said. The shocks indicated the disturbance was about 5,000 miles away, probably near Japan, it was said.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—An earthquake of severe intensity was registered on the seismograph at the University of Chicago today.

The first shock occurred at 1:45 a. m. and the last at 5 a. m. The maximum intensity was reached at 2:11 a. m.

WOMAN INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Report of the automobile accident at the intersection of Prospect and East Chapman avenues Thursday night, in which one woman sustained a fractured collar bone, was on file at police headquarters here today.

The report was rendered by Leo Crumer, 739 North Broadway, Santa Ana. The injured woman was Miss May Fowler. She was still confined to her home by the fracture.

Charles Kiser, another occupant, sustained minor injuries, as did Crumer. The name of the second girl was not included in the report.

Fog prevented Crumer from observing the corner until too late to avoid striking the post, he said.

ADMIT WRECKED CAR THEFT, POLICE SAY

John Boyle and J. L. Denning, who, police say, confessed to appropriating a car said to have been owned by George Farris, 1029 West Third street, and to wrecking it on West Fifth street, Thursday night, were in the county jail awaiting arraignment today on probable charges of grand larceny.

Attention was first called to the incident when Boyle told police that two men had entered the Santa Ana garage, on North Main street, where he was employed, and after blackjacking him, had driven away in a large automobile.

When the car was found wrecked on West Fifth street, however, Chief of Police Claude Rogers became suspicious and arrested the men for investigation.

Repeated questioning, police say, induced them to admit that they had taken the car for a "joy ride," and that after they had wrecked it, they "framed" the story of the hold-up.

BUSY MEETS HELD AT BUREAU OFFICE

Today was an exceptionally busy day at the Orange county farm bureau office, 508 North Main street here.

California Farm Bureau federation regional directors, livestock men, grain growers, walnut growers, Agricultural Extension service specialists, and others, all were gathered in the office to hold their departmental meetings.

The grain growers were from five counties, Orange, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, San Diego and Riverside. Their purpose was the formation of the five Southern counties grain exchange. Edwin F. Whedon, secretary-manager of the Orange county farm bureau, declared that all reports were favorable to its successful formation.

T. E. Morgan, general manager of the California Farm Bureau exchange, reviewed the activities of the state exchange. Luncheon was served at James' cafe and business continued thereafter.

Regional directors from Southern California counties of the State Farm Bureau federation met here mainly to go over proposed agricultural legislation and kindred matters. R. B. Peters of San Bernardino county, president of Regional No. 1 of the state organization, presided.

Livestock committeemen of the Orange county fair held a short meeting at the farm bureau office. With W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, they discussed premium lists and other fair data.

ALLEGED PEEPING TOM GIVEN 30-DAY TERM
John Miller, alleged peeping Tom, went before Justice J. B. Cox at 7 a. m. today for trial on vagrancy charges. Ten minutes later he was back in the county jail, beginning a 30-day sentence.

R. F. Heard, H. A. Winsor and A. J. Finley, who were said to have captured Miller, were witnesses for the state. Constable Jesse Elliott was awakened at an early hour by the justice, who ordered him to preside as bailiff at the "sunrise court."

EMBEZZLEMENT CASE HEARING DATE FIXED

C. E. Bowers, arrested on embezzlement charges in Los Angeles several days ago, will come before Justice J. B. Cox for preliminary examination April 3, at 10 a. m.

He was arraigned today. According to officials, Bowers purchased a car and sold it before completing payments.

4.—That the statute of the court adjointed to the protocol not be amended without the consent of the league.

The President indicated that these reservations would be accepted by the court and the league of nations.

Stating that our "deliberate public opinion today is overwhelmingly in favor of our full participation," Mr. Harding urged that the senate take action on his request at this session.

Negotiations for American participation have been in progress since the Washington arms conference, the message revealed.

"Such action would add to our own consciousness of participation in the fortunate advancement of international relationship and remind the world anew that we are ready for our proper part in furthering peace and adding to stability in world affairs," the President said.

Unusual significance was attached to this statement by observers here.

The President's action today came as a complete surprise to many senate leaders.

Threatening as it does to revive the old league of nations fight, it may be extremely difficult to obtain action on his request in the few remaining days of this session.

Friendly Celebration Honors Birthday

A happy evening at the Lee Buck home on Walnut street resulted Wednesday when Mrs. Buck gathered together a friendly group to aid in celebrating the thirty-third birthday of her husband.

A surprise 6 o'clock dinner was the chosen form of entertainment and places were indicated for Mr. and Mrs. Buck, honoree and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lewis, Smeltzer; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crane, Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Lutin, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Lambert, Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Vauren Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Trimble, Joseph Beatson, Alline Buck and Clarence Hinkle, Santa Ana.

Mrs. Buck was assisted in serving by Mrs. Lewis and following the delicious dinner the evening was spent in social chat with a group of piano numbers played by Mrs. Hurd. A clever dance, "The Old-Fashioned Girl," was given by little Miss Alline Buck in hoop skirt costume with Mrs. Hurd at the piano.

OBITUARY

John T. Lloyd was born at Pittsburgh, Pa., February 8, 1838, and passed away at West Orange, Calif., February 17, 1923.

Early in life he gave his life to Christ and walked in fellowship with him his whole life through. He loved his God supremely and everything whereby God makes himself known. The Sabbath was to him a delight and he kept God's Holy Day in the old-fashioned way. It was his habit to observe family worship, and nothing was ever permitted to interfere with this custom.

So sudden was his passing that his family did not know the serious nature of his illness and his death came as a shock to everyone. We can heartily say that he was truly a servant of God.

"Even death has a wonderful mission,"
"Though it rob us of those we love;
"It draws us from our surroundings."
"To long for a meeting above,
"No matter how heavy our loss is,
"No matter how great our despair;
"Doesn't heaven seem nearer and brighter,
"To know that our loved ones are there?"

ESOP'S FILM Fables

A STONE AGE ROMEO

In Stone Age days our old friend Al
Loved Wildrose Rockybilt—a "gal"
Whom he'd just rescued from the deep;
But Wildrose held his ardor cheap.
She fled, Al rode his dinosaur
And chased her miles upon the shore;
He caught her, but she acted rough,
Al said, "I hate cave-woman stuff,
I'm off you, kid. You can't be mine!"

The Moral—"Girls, be feminine."

ARMY OF FEMININE DRY AGENTS ASKED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24.
"I can get 5000 women at once to enforce the prohibition laws, and they will enforce them, too.
They won't be subject to the bribes that are a scandal today."

This is the proposal that Mrs.
Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, has put before President Harding. She has embarked on a campaign to dry up her own state, and in connection with it called at the White House and laid before the nation's chief executive her plan for ousting practically every male prohibition agent and replacing them with a feminine force.

"This is no joke," she asserts,
"and I am perfectly serious about it. The President has promised to take it up with Commissioner Haynes."

Women enforcers would not be content, Mrs. Pinchot says, with moonshiners and home brewers.
They would go after the "higher ups," she says, the wholesalers of liquor. Forged and fraudulent permits would result in speedy punishment, according to her idea.
The present trouble with enforcement, she holds, is that dry agents pay too much attention to "cellar experts" and not enough to big interests in bootlegging.

Daughters of Veterans

Plans for the benefit which Tent
No. 10, Daughters of Veterans will present Tuesday afternoon and evening at the Temple theater seem daily to grow in interest. Today it was announced by Mrs. Lois Lentz, chairman of the program committee, that Miss Kathleen Owens had been secured to give a vocal group as the fourth number on the program.

Miss Owens is well known for her sweet voice and has been an active member of the Orange County Choral union, sung leading roles in entertainments staged by the Elks and appeared on many programs in the city.

At the evening benefit when four acts of home talent vaudeville will be presented in connection with the film presentation of "Cardigan" by Robert W. Chambers, Miss Owens will sing "Just a Song at Twilight" and "An Old-Fashioned Garden." She will make it a costume event with accompanying chorus of four small maids, the Misses Maxine Berge, Martha Lep-sic, Elizabeth Roehm and Marguerite Lentz, also in costume, to give dainty dance steps as an accompaniment. The young people are pupils of the Mabel Rockwell School of Dancing.

In the cabaret scene which the group of Spanish dancers under the direction of Paul and Ben Gonzales will present, the music will be given by the Spanish orchestra directed by Jesus Garcia who, with the Gonzales brothers, won such laurels at the Choral Union production of "The Bohemian Girl."

The afternoon performance will feature only the film but prices have been made very low in order that school children may have the opportunity to see an excellently written and staged story of days of the American Revolution.

Parent-Teachers

When the Junior High Parent-Teacher association gathers in the art room of the north building next Thursday night it will be as guests of the fathers of the organization who will present the entertaining program, arrange for refreshments and in fact, bear the burdens of the entire evening.

Fred C. Nellis, superintendent of the State School for Boys at Whittier will be the principal speaker while appearing with him on the program will be the Boys'
Glee club in several numbers, Miss Edith Cornell in a voice group, and reading by one of the school pupils.

BUY IT IN SANTA ANA

If It Is Just as Good, or Better--- and Cost no More

It's surely a fair proposition to make—buy it in Santa Ana if it is just as good, or better—and costs no more. Put it purely upon a business basis—you've never heard Santa Ana merchants whining about your debt to the city, that your purchases should be made in Santa Ana upon a loyalty basis alone. No sir! They have the goods, priced right, and you'll find it out if you don't know it already.

Notice the way their offerings are presented in their advertising news—clean cut, straightforward, plain, readable, interesting stories about their goods—just what everyone wants to know—descriptions, features, uses, and prices—ALL BASED ON MERIT, and nothing else, or less.

That's where you'll find the opportunities you're looking for to make your money serve you

Wm. J. Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

(Luke 20:19-26; 21:1-4.)
Three days before his crucifixion Christ preached in the Temple in Jerusalem.

The things He spoke there are among the most wonderful of His entire ministry, and they are set down in detail in the 20th and 21st chapters of Luke. Today we are concerned with two very dramatic, yet practical, lessons He then gave the world—the first as to the duties of citizenship, and the second as to the relative value of gifts to God.

There were among the Jews at Jerusalem many who argued that it was their religious duty to refuse to pay taxes to the Roman state. It is only fair to assume that this objection was conscientiously made in most cases, although an unconscious pecuniary interest sometimes decides those who offer an objection in the name of conscience.

The Jews, not being accustomed to a government separate and distinct from the church and paying their tithes to their church, would quite naturally feel that they were doubly taxed. They could say with some propriety, "We do not need this government; why should we pay for it? Let those who are not amenable to our religious restrictions support the government that exercises a needed control over them. Why should we contribute to a government that does not recognize our God?"

The Things That Are Caesar's.
The question proposed to Christ, "Is it lawful for us to give tribute unto Caesar, or no?" was not, however, asked in good faith. The chief priests and the scribes who "sought to lay hands on Him," but "feared the people . . . sent forth spies, which should feign themselves just men, that they might take hold of his words, that so they might deliver him unto the power and authority of the governor."

It is worth while to note the cunning which they displayed in ordering to put Christ off His guard. They approached Him very reverently, saying:

"Master, we know that thou sayest and teachest rightly, neither acceptest thou the person of any, but teachest the way of God truly." How artful were they; but they were not artful enough to deceive Jesus. He perceived their craftiness, and said unto them:

"Show me a penny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered and said, Caesar's. And he said unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's."

Luke's next sentence gives us the conclusion: "And they could not take hold of his words before the people; and they marveled at his answer, and held their peace. And well they might."

Our Two Sovereignties.
We live under two sovereignties and have, so to speak, a hyphenated citizenship.

We are children of God and, at the same time, citizens of an earthly government.

The relation which we bear to the Heavenly Father is entirely distinct from the relation that exists between us and the governmental authority under which we live, the latter regulates our duty toward our fellowmen so far as law can define this duty.

There need be no conflict between these two sovereignties; there is a zone between them so wide that one sovereignty does not necessarily interfere with the other.

Man's religious duty to his fellow men is much larger than the law can enforce. Human government can only compel negative virtues, while religion enforces positive commands.

The government says, "Thou shalt not harm thy neighbor." Religion, building upon "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," enjoys actual helpfulness.

In the Christian nations the spirit of Christ has prevailed over government to the extent of establishing charitable institutions supported by taxation.

Caring For the Afflicted.
We teach the blind, the deaf, and the dumb, and care for those who have entirely or partially lost their mind.

These co-operative efforts do not come strictly within the definition of government as formerly understood, although they can be justified on economic as well as humane grounds.

Our minds see more clearly when they are led into larger and higher fields by a spiritual vision. The mind would never, of itself, discover that the command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" is really enlightened selfishness, but when the heart compels us to do the things that love suggests, the mind justifies and defends the doing of them.

Citizenship a Responsibility.
But to return to the duties of citizenship.

Christ is here, as elsewhere, the great Teacher. Citizenship is not merely a privilege; it is also a responsibility and the responsibility is always imperative.

Duty is a larger word than rights; we can waive our rights, and it is often wise to do so, but we have no right to waive our duties or shift responsibility.

In proportion as government rests upon the consent of the governed, the responsibility of citizens increases.

In an unlimited monarchy where the king thinks and acts for the people, the moral responsibility of the citizen is reduced to a minimum. He can only protest, and then at his own risk.

In an aristocracy the sense of responsibility is felt by all who share in the control of the government. Here those who can vote are responsible for the right use of the ballot and also for the exercise or the right of petition in matters beyond their control.

With universal suffrage every citizen can have a part in the shaping of the nation's destiny, and should, therefore, be held accountable for sins of omission as well as for sins of commission. The citizen is not only morally responsible for that which he does affirmatively in endorsing principles and voting for candidates, but he is also responsible for the good which he might do but fails to do.

Evading Obligations.
To use a familiar illustration, an adult who would stand by the side of a stream and see a child fall in and drown without attempting to rescue the child would be regarded as almost as guilty as one who would push the child in.

The question "Am I my brother's keeper?" which was asked by Cain to divert attention from his own act of violence, is often asked now by those who attempt to evade responsibility for permitting injustice that they could prevent.

The citizen who accepts the benefits of government cannot evade its obligations.

He is not compelled to live under any particular government; he can choose the sovereignty under which he will live, but he cannot enjoy the protection of a government without paying for it.

Awareness of Citizenship.
The growth and final triumph of prohibition gives us an excellent illustration of an awakened sense of responsibility among citizens.

When saloons owed their existence to licenses granted by the government, those in control of the government became responsible for the saloon and the evils that flow from it. They were as much in partnership with the saloonkeeper as those who furnished the money to run the saloon or made the liquor sold.

Finally, the Christian conscience revolted against such a partnership.

Evading Obligations.

To use a familiar illustration, an adult who would stand by the side of a stream and see a child fall in and drown without attempting to rescue the child would be regarded as almost as guilty as one who would push the child in.

The question "Am I my brother's keeper?" which was asked by Cain to divert attention from his own act of violence, is often asked now by those who attempt to evade responsibility for permitting injustice that they could prevent.

News Notes of Interest To Clubwomen*Happy Surprise
Greets Celebrants
Of Double Birthday

Offering a complete surprise to her husband, Mrs. Charles E. Dixon entertained last Wednesday, February 21 with a delightful party at her home, 1283 West Fourth street.

Birthdays galore were celebrated as the date marked the fifty-fourth anniversary of Mr. Dixon's birth and the forty-fifth anniversary of Samuel Buckridge of Orange while the Father of His Country was not forgotten.

In arranging the affair the services of "Goliath" Dan R. Mears was called for and Mr. Mears suggested to Mr. Dixon that they go to the home of Captain Jones of Calumit Camp (of which the birthday celebrant is adjutant).
During their absence the guests arrived and when the two men returned to the darkened house and the lights were switched on it was to reveal about forty broadly smiling friends.

Games of all kinds were enjoyed until midnight when Mrs. Dixon served refreshments of ice cream garlanded with cherries, cake and coffee.

The guests were largely drawn from members of Calumit camp and its auxiliary and in token of their appreciation for the adju-tant's active interest in the camp, presented him with a handsome pair of Indian book-ends together with a number of interesting books and other gifts.

Mr. Buckridge who shared the honors of the occasion, was a schoolmate of Mrs. Dixon's back in their childhood days in Kansas.
Each of the two men were honored by having handsome big cakes decorated for them. One cake had "Charles, 54" and the other, "Sam, 45" traced in the icing with a contrasting color, and Mr. Buckridge was so pleased that he declared his intention of having the party another year.

Enjoying the event in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon were Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Was-sum and two children, Mr. and Mrs. G. Miller, son and daughter,
Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Tandler,

Lowell School Bazaar Attended by Success Hear Faust Sung

A gratifying success attended the program and bazaar given by Lowell school pupils under the auspices of the P. T. A. at the school Thursday evening.

Various grades of the school presented the program, which opened with music by the kindergarten band followed by recitation,
"How About It" by Burt Campbell; song, "Washington," first grade pupils; the minuet danced by fourth grade girls and a dialogue, "Washington or Lincoln" by fifth grade boys.

Song, "The Discontented Gold Fish," second grade boys; recitation, "What We Owe to Washington," Geneva Crawford; song,
"Sweet Pea Ladies," third grade girls; play, "Making Our Flag," fifth and sixth grade pupils.

Following the program, the funds of the P. T. A. were considerably augmented by the sale of articles from the various booths which netted the organization approximately sixty dollars. This will be devoted to needs of the association, including a number of pictures for the school rooms. Much gratitude was expressed to parents of the district for their splendid aid in donating to the bazaar.

Lowell P. T. A. now boasts 117 members and is still growing. The next meeting will be held at the school Tuesday, March 13, at 2:45
p. m.

Pleasant Dinner Will Celebrate Two Family Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Diers of this city will be honored guests at a family dinner to be given tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pease, Orange.

The event will be in celebration of two anniversaries in the family, the birthday of Mr. Diers which falls on Monday, February 26, and the twentieth wedding anniversary of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr.
and Mrs. Pease, which is tomorrow, February 25.

Covers at the dinner will be laid for Mr. and Mrs. Pease, the hosts,
Mr. and Mrs. Diers, Miss Dorothy Pease, little Miss Barbara Pease and Harvey Pease.

San Diego Honeymoon

Departing today for San Diego,
Mr. and Mrs. William T. Dorrance, 1005 West Chestnut street, will spend their honeymoon in the southern city following their recent quiet nuptials.

Mrs. Dorrance was Mrs. Alice Edwards of Los Angeles. Mr. Dorrance is a well-known painter of this city. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at the West Chestnut street home.

Every Girl's Club

Every Girl's club of Junior high school is being congratulated upon the plan to present the California Jubilee All-star quartette in a musical program at the assembly room, Friday, March 9, at 7:30
p. m.

The quartette won much acclaim earlier in the season when it appeared at the high school assembly and in an afternoon program.
The four members not only proved to have the rich, sweet voices, with which members of the colored race are so frequently blessed, but also were masters of the art of saying and doing highly amusing and entertaining things.

Arthur D. Lawrence is manager of the organization while the four members, Morris, Stewart, Walker and Brown, offer in addition to first tenor baritone, second tenor and basso profundo voices, other interesting qualifications of cartoonist, piano soloist, guitarist and dialect reader.

Brown, the latter, confines himself largely to plantation tales and the delightful verse of Paul Lawrence Dunbar, one of the brilliant members of his race. A nominal admission fee will be asked, and it is believed that the nature of the entertainment will attract a large crowd to help fill the coffers of Every Girl's club.

Woman's Auxiliary

An all-day meeting of the Woman's auxiliary of the Church of the Messiah will be held Tuesday, February 27, beginning at 9:30
a. m. Luncheon will be served at noon. Everyone is welcome and a large attendance is desired as there will be many important business matters to discuss.

Members of the guild are requested to be present at 2:30.

Many Surprise Events
At Party Honoring Birthday of Host

February seems truly the month of birthdays and the fact that Mr.
Glenn Breeding of South Parton street, like Washington and Lincoln, celebrated his natal day recently, was taken by Mrs. Breeding as an opportunity for a delightful surprise.

That it was truly a surprise affair, can be testified to by the guests who arrived at the pleasant home to find their host retired for the night. It seemed that Mr.
Breeding had been out to evening affairs on the previous night or two and deciding to make up some of the lost sleep had retired unusually early.

However when he found that officers and graces of the Royal Neighbors (of which both he and Mrs. Breeding are enthusiastic members) were intent upon celebrating his birthday he soon recovered from the surprise sufficiently to join them for a merry evening.

Old-fashioned games were followed by whist in which Mrs.
Brown, introduced as the houseguest from Arizona of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles L. Tibbets, held high score and was awarded the prize.

Delicious refreshments were served and it was not until that time that the mysterious Mrs.
Brown disclosed her identity and proved to be H. E. Johnson whose makeup and acting were so clever as to have deceived everyone present but Mr. and Mrs. Tibbets.

Affairs at the Inn

Interest in the Saturday night dinner dances at St. Ann's Inn continues unabated and with the increased interest in dancing which has seemed a marked feature of Santa Ana social life this winter, many persons each week plan to drop in for the event at the Inn.

Tonight a number of reservations have been made for small parties of four or half a dozen, while among the larger events will be the party given by Mr. and
Mrs. Robert M. Simon of 2110
North Broadway, for which invitations to the number of about eighty were issued.

A smaller party will be that of R. W. White, who is among those making reservations. Chapman's orchestra will play, as is the established custom.

Calumit Auxiliary

Mrs. Frances Dresser will entertain the members of Calumit auxiliary at tea, Tuesday afternoon, February 27 at 2 p. m., at her home, 1523 Spurgeon street.

Patriotic Motif
Cleverly Employed
At Attractive Dinner

Introducing a number of novel features in the standard game of whist, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Robbins proved their originality as entertainers at a delightful Washington's Birthday dinner recently at their home, 930 Lacy street.

Gathered to enjoy the pleasant hospitality which the Robbins home radiates, were forty friends and associates in Masonic and Eastern Star circles. These were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Robbins, Miss Doris Robbins and Mr. and Mrs.
Mac O. Robbins.

Dinner was served at the small tables, each centered with the silken folds of the Stars and Stripes. The patriotic motif was introduced in the menu wherever possible and was in evidence in the decorations throughout the house.

Departing from the usual procedure in prize awards following several rubbers of whist, the attractive gifts chosen by the hostess were announced as birthday honors and a wedding present and were bestowed upon the two whose birthdays fell closest to that of Washington and to the couple whose wedding anniversary was nearest that historical date.

It was discovered that in all the party there had been no tiny girl baby claiming February as her birth-month, a peculiarity explained by one gallant guest as being due to the shortness of the month. Mrs.
Verne Whitson, a daughter of March was the nearest and received the pretty birthday gift, while to Mr. A. N. Zerman fell the gentleman's birthday present.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pease were the fortunate folk who chose February as a wedding month and received the wedding present in honor of the ceremony which on February 25, 1903, united Miss Dora M. Diers and Arthur H.
Pease.

ADVISES MOTOR PILOTS AS TO NEW NUMBER NOTATIONS

Jernigan Suggests Owners Remember Figures On License Plates

WILL HELP OFFICERS

Sheriff Says Professional Car Thieves Are Able to Break Lock Devices

With 1923 license plates being delivered here now in large numbers, Sheriff Sam Jernigan today suggested that motorists make notation of their numbers in notebooks or elsewhere so that in event their cars are stolen they may be able to advise officers promptly and intelligently. The sheriff declared his belief that less than 25 per cent of the motorists can call their numbers from memory.

At the same time he added the further suggestion that owners make secret marks on their cars for identification in case of theft. He pointed out that despite the large number of locking devices that have come into use the number of cars stolen is increasing each year.

Admitting that theft locks are effective against amateur car thieves, he pointed out that few devices will hold against the operations of professionals. He says that professionals have equipment with which to break or unlock the best of the devices.

Forethought Counts
"Police and insurance men are beginning to realize that thefts can be prevented not so much by the application of anti-theft appliances, as by the clever forethought of each auto owner," Jernigan said. "Anti-theft inventions help where the amateur crook is concerned, but to the professional they have not been much hindrance."

"The solution, therefore, resolves itself to the auto owner's own secret method of forestalling

Auto Registration Deadline In Effect February 28

February 28 is just four days away.

That is the day in which applications for motor registrations may be received at this office in Sacramento without a penalty being added.

To date, Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the motor vehicle department, has in no way intimated that he will extend the period for filing applications without a penalty being attached.

This, Mr. Motorist, is just a reminder if you have failed to send in your application for a renewal of your license, you had better, tomorrow or Monday, extract last year's certificate from its container, attach a check for the amount of the registration fee for your particular car and mail it to Sacramento—unless you want to drive into Los Angeles before the end of the month and await your opportunity to get a certificate and plates at the branch in Los Angeles.

WATCH FOR REPAIR PLACES ON ROADS, WARNS CLUB CHIEF

Warning today was issued by officials of the Automobile Club of Orange county for all motorists to be particularly careful to watch out for roads under repair at this period of the year.

"At this time of the year," said A. S. Ralph, manager of the local club, "there are many different road gangs at work all over the state getting the roads in shape after the heavy rains. In many places the roads are torn up while new surface is being put on and the motorist who is not careful is liable to find himself caught in a bad fix."

"When approaching any spot where the road is under repair, slow up and be very careful that no car is coming in your direction before you take the right of way left open for traffic."

CLAIM AUTO IS NECESSITY OF PRESENT DAY

Local Auto Club Man Says Motor Car No Longer Is Merely for Luxury

Have state and national legislative bodies the right to continue to regard and classify automobiles as luxuries?

Have they the right to regard owners of such vehicles as millionaires and competent to stand financial burdens just because they have the foresight to adopt the modern method of transportation and to look on the industry as a necessity to present-day conditions rather than for pleasure?

They have not, in the opinion of A. S. Ralph, secretary and manager of the Auto Club of Orange county.

Ralph today pointed to the automobile industry as one of the big factors in employment and as having an important influence on the raw material market as an evidence that the automobile no longer can be classed as a luxury, but more as an industry giving employment to thousands of men and providing a modern day necessity.

He pointed to the fact that the automobile industry, in 1922, including parts and tires, had an output of $2,725,000,000.

Industry Supports Many
"Approximately 730,000 persons derive their living directly from the automobile industry in production, sales and service," Ralph said. "There are 930,000 other wage earners who come under the head of drivers, chauffeurs and workers in industries supplying raw materials to manufacturers of automobile products."

"Of the 12,750,000 workers supported from manufacturing industries or engaged in transportation, statistics reveal that 13 per cent are dependent on the auto industry. It has proved itself the most stable of the great industrial enterprises, because it has been the first to return to normal in the recent depression."

Speaking of the influence the industry has on raw material markets, Ralph said that of 600,000,000 pounds of crude rubber imported into the United States each year, 81 per cent was required last year

SPEED PROGRAM PLAN FOR BIG MOTOR MEET

Three Well Known Industry Men to Be Speakers at Oakland Conclave

According to Robert Martland, secretary and manager of the California Automobile Trade association, three of the best known men in the automobile world will address the convention of the northern division of the association to be held at Oakland Monday and Tuesday.

They are F. E. Moskovic, vice president and general manager of the Nordyke and Marmon company; C. A. Musselman, of the Auto Trade Journal, and Andy Smith, famous football coach of the University of California. The speakers will tell of the results of co-operation.

Delegates from all parts of the state are expected to answer the call of the president, Harry Mason, of Los Angeles. Reservations so far made indicate a large attendance. The Orange County Automobile Trade association will not be represented, it was learned today. Officers of the association are too busy to get away at this time, according to reports.

Martland has been assisted in arrangement of the program by a committee headed by William Mackay, of Oakland. Many important subjects are scheduled for discussion, among them proposed legislation effecting the automobile industry.

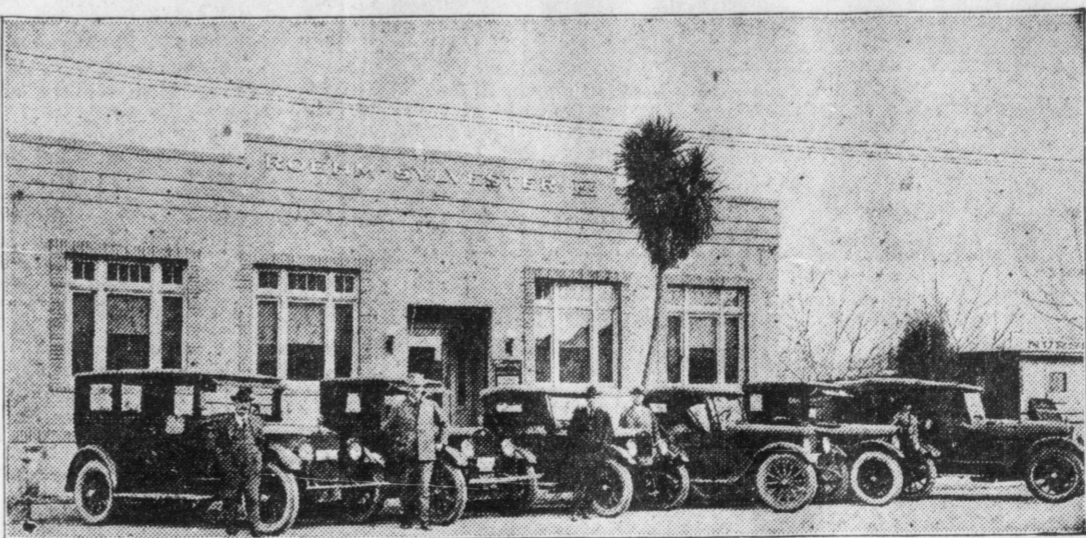

Craft meetings will rule the first day with a general convention session Tuesday. The convention banquet will be held Monday evening at the Hotel Oakland.

CADILLAC SALES SET RECORD IN JANUARY

Both sales and production during January were the largest for any January in Cadillac history, and reports for February indicate even better results, according to Otto Haan, manager of the Cadillac Garage company of this city.

"January from the standpoint of sales was the best January Cadillac ever experienced, and our production records for that month tell the same story," said Haan.

STUDEBAKER CARS PRAISED BY ROEHM-SYLVESTER FIRM

Here are six Studebaker automobiles delivered in the past eighteen months by the Bowles Motor company to Roehm-Sylvester Inc., and to members of that organization. The latest sale was that of a light six roadster. Four of the machines are used by salesmen and two are in private use by members. Men in the picture, left to right—M. S. Cloyes, W. R. Sylvester, E. R. Roehm, Fred Ross (salesmanager for Bowles) and J. M. Cloyes.

CLAIMS LIQUID BATTERY WILL HELP RADIO

Earl Matthews, president and general manager of the Orange County Ignition works, is a radio fan of the first degree. Like many others, Matthews did not take much stock in the idea at first, but when he was laid up in bed for several months he found a radio one of the finest forms of entertainment possible.

"Many radios are constantly troubled with 'frying' noises which bother the listener to a great extent," Matthews said. "These noises have kept radio engineers busy trying to eliminate them. I have used all kinds of batteries on my radio and I am convinced that the noises are caused by the polarization in the 'B' battery when a dry battery is used."

"I have found that a liquid battery does not produce these sounds because this sort of internal action does not take place. The Willard Storage Battery company was one of the first battery manufacturers to recognize the need for a good wet cell 'B' battery. It has recently produced a rechargeable battery, each cell of which is enclosed in an individual glass jar. Extra heavy plates are insulated by threaded rubber insulation. Cable clamp connections, fastened to the terminals with set screws, make a very rigid contact with the plate circuit."

"Radio fans who use this type of battery will find that many of their 'noisy' troubles are no more."

H. B. FOLK FIND HUDSON COACH TO LIKING

That the Hudson coach is popular with residents of Huntington Beach, was indicated today when Townsend and Medbery, local distributors for the Hudson and Essex, disclosed that four deliveries of this model were made there this week.

Grover Besser, druggist by profession, and "oil magnate" by avocation, is one of the Huntington Beach men who has spent oil money for a new car. While he is spending the money for the Hudson coach, Mrs. Besser will have full say as to its operation for it is to be registered in her name and the bill of sale went to her.

Others at Huntington Beach who today were driving brand new coaches were Dr. W. B. Hardy, Mrs. Agnes B. Gothard and Ruth E. and Maude A. Tettelbach. The latter two are members of the faculty of the Huntington Beach high school.

Clara J. Marshall, 942 West Highland street, this city, yesterday accepted delivery of a Hudson sedan, and D. Wrotenberg, 112 North Los Angeles street, Anaheim, an Essex coach.

EXPECT TO SHATTER PRODUCTION RECORD FOR OAKLAND CARS

The Oakland Motor Car company's report of production and sales since January 1 indicate that 1923 will break the high peak record of 1922, according to D. Z. Smith, sales manager for Edgar and Hays, Oakland dealers.

"The figures for January show car sales 170 per cent greater than the same month last year," Smith said. "More orders were received February 5 than on any previous day in the past two years."

"Since January 1 production of cars has been at the maximum capacity of the factory—175 a day."

"We are sold on Studebaker cars and service."

With this declaration today, E. R. Roehm, of Roehm-Sylvester Inc., wholesaler of cigars, tobaccos, soda fountain supplies and candies, pointed to possession of four Studebakers by the organization and two privately owned by members of the wholesale firm, as evidence that he and other members of the big concern are strong for the Studebaker product.

"We bought a Studebaker December 17, 1921. Complete records disclose that the car traveled up to February 1, 1923, 19,000 miles," said Roehm. "In that distance the average gasoline consumption was one gallon to every twenty-two miles, while the lubrication record was 2000 miles to the gallon."

"The original tires are on the front wheels. The two rear tires we discarded at 16,000 miles because the tread was gone and we wanted an all-weather tread for the winter months. He sold the two old tires for $10."

The Bowles Motor company in the past eighteen months has sold four Studebakers to the firm and one each to M. S. and J. M. Cloyes, members of the concern.

The wholesale business of Roehm-Sylvester Inc. has been increasing year by year. The volume of business last year was 100 per cent greater than for 1921. The motor equipment has been increased until four cars are used by salesmen and three trucks are in delivery service, according to Roehm.

The firm recently moved into a new building on East Fourth street erected especially for its use. It has basement and one floor, 116 by 50 feet, 11,600 square feet of space. This capacity is three times that which was available to the organization when it was operating in the Meyer building on Spurgeon street.

"Our territory extends from Whittier to San Juan Capistrano and from Colton to Long Beach. Our customers are increasing month by month," declared Roehm.

Why suffer in a cold, windy touring car when it can be made so cozy and comfortable with a Clark's enclosure? It won't hurt to look at one today. See it at Sunset Mfg. Co., 414 W. 5th.

POLY FOOTBALL MENTOR BUYS JEWETT SIX

Marvin H. ("Spud") Morrison, football coach at the Santa Ana high school, today was stepping on the throttle of a Jewett Super Special six, the very latest product of the Jewett factory. His car was the first model of the 1923 product to arrive in Santa Ana. The machine was delivered to him this week by Edgar and Hays, local distributors.

The new machine is striking in appearance and is strong on performance, according to D. Z. Smith, sales manager for the distributors. It is finished in blue and the upholstery is in Spanish leather.

A trunk, rear and front guards, and a clock are few of the numerous accessories that come as regular equipment on the new models. Smith said that the firm expects to have another model of the Jewett Super Special six here the first of next week.

The new Paige 6-70 line is now being displayed in Los Angeles and the local firms expect to have models here in the next week or two. According to Smith, those who have seen the new line in Los Angeles pronounce it high class.

Smith reports the delivery of a Jewett touring car to John Dunstan, vice president of the First National bank of Tustin; Oakland coupe to V. E. Maynard, Santa Ana building contractor, and an Oakland sedan to N. E. Watson, 2019 Bush street, also a building contractor.

12 MILLION IS SUM INVESTED IN AUTOS BY MOTORISTS OF COUNTY

25,006 Cars Registered By Residents of Section During Past Year

REFUND TOTALS $7,351

Figures Show Every Fourth Person In District Is Owner of Machine

That Orange county residents have approximately $12,500,000 invested in automobiles, to say nothing of the investment in trucks, trailers and tractors, was revealed here today when the state motor vehicle department disclosed that fees were paid in 1922 for 25,006 registrations.

Fees were collected for 669 truck registrations, 539 motorcycles and 253 trailers.

These figures were compiled for the year closing February, 1923, the fiscal year for the department. It was pointed out that number of registrations does not reflect accurately the number of cars in operation in the county, because of the fact that more than one registration may be made on a car. The number of such instances, however, is small compared with the total.

It is the belief of men posted in the automobile business that there are at least 20,000 recreation cars in the county. On this basis and compared with the population of the county, it is estimated that there is one automobile for every three and a half persons.

Revenue is $8,384,606. During the year the division had a total revenue of $8,334,606. Refunds reduced the amount to $8,359,905. The refund is divided between the counties and the state and figures for the first six months of the year revealed that Orange county received $7,351.42. Alameda, Fresno, Los Angeles and San Francisco were the only counties receiving more than Orange county.

A statement made public today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division, shows that 114,297 automobiles were registered in California from August 1, 1922, to January 31, 1923. There were registered also 2,075 motorcycles, 4,226 trucks and 326 trailers.

During the last half of the year but $401 was spent in maintaining the department out of monies thus received from registrations. The rest necessary for maintenance of the department was taken from the collections in the transfer and operators' fund. The cost of operating the department during the last six months of the year was $418,524.89.

ADVISES MOTOR PILOTS AS TO NEW NUMBER

the theft of his machine. Crooks know most of these, but even this knowledge may not help them because of the many variations to which each preventive measure can be put.

"For instance, where lines leading to the spark plugs are about the same length, he knows many autoists take the precaution of switching them so that no spark will occur at the right time. In spite of this, however, the preventive is much more effective than a marketed appliance, because there are so many different combinations in which these cables can be switched. It would be some task for a thief to find the right combination.

Tells Precautions
"Other precautions just as effective against theft are:
"Removing some vital part of the ignition system. For example, the distributor brush may be taken out with ease and in a short time.

Attaching a secret fuel-line cut-off.
Concealing a knife switch in the ignition system so that when the switch is open the current is shut off.

"There is one method in theft, however, that cannot be prevented. That is, towing off the car. Crooks have been known to bring a garage wrecking car to the scene of their theft, lift up the front or rear wheels, and tow it off—giving an appearance as though the object of their crime was in a wreck."

TELLS DEVICE TO CARRY GOLF CLUBS

"Somebody is always coming on the market with something new in motor and automobile accessories," today averred Elmer Preston of Livezey's, "but the latest motor accessory is one designed to please the golfer.

"This device is for carrying golf bags on the running board of the car. Golf sticks are one of the most handy things to pack in a car that I know of, so this new device is bound to be popular.

"Clamping on the running board, the attachment holds the bag of sticks upright so there is no danger of losing them, and at the same time keeps them in a position where their owner can keep his eye on them.

"Local golfers will no doubt find the bag very handy and we expect a demand for them from those golfers who make a practice of visiting nearby clubs."

RURAL CARRIERS HEAR TALK ON NEW BILLS

Members of the Orange County Rural Carriers' association were today more familiar with the meaning of various bills now before the state legislature and favoring rural carriers, following an interesting talk on the measures given by H. W. McCampbell of Carpentaria, president of the state organization. The talk was made at a meeting of the state body held in Los Angeles on Washington's birthday and attended by Charles E. Dixon, Santa Ana, president of the county association; Merton Hosack, secretary; Huntington Beach; J. W. Temple of this city, and M. E. Hedges, Anaheim, who also took the opportunity to call on Postmaster P. P. O'Brien.

In his talk McCampbell explained what had been done about getting rural carriers placed on the exempted list in the bill now before the legislature calling for a two-cent per gallon tax on gasoline.

FORMER L. A. MAN BUYS GIFT SHOP INTEREST

O. D. Stokes has acquired an interest in the Flower and Gift Shop, 409 North Main street, owned by Henry W. Turner and Mrs. Hazel Stokes Ralpin.

Stokes, who is Mrs. Ralph's father, moved here recently from Los Angeles where for a number of years he was manager of the National Ice and Cold Storage company.

"The acquisition of Stokes as a partner enables us to carry out our plans for improvements and expansion," said Turner today.

The decorative permanent art grasses made in our shop are shipped to all parts of the United States. By further developing our manufacturing and wholesale departments we hope to extend the fame of Santa Ana products."

Figures compiled by the department show an increase in the registration of automobiles over the previous year of 27.3 per cent. All classifications of registration show an increase in 1922 over 1921 with the exception of motorcycles and dealers. The largest loss in registrations was recorded in motorcycles. They showed a decrease of 8.1 per cent.

Total expenditures of the department for 1922 amounted to $749,676.64, which amount is 9.2 per cent of the net proceeds.

for tires.
"Last year approximately 5,400,000 gallons gasoline were produced, and of this amount more than 4,320,000,000 gallons, or 80 per cent of the total, were used in automobiles," Ralph declared. "Of the lubricating oil used for domestic purposes, 40 per cent was needed for the automobile.

Use Much Cotton
"Approximately 75,000 bales of Egyptian type long staple cotton were grown in the United States last year, while 400,000 bales were imported from Egypt. About 38 per cent of this total was used in the manufacture of automobile tires.

"Nearly one-third of all the plate glass made in this country and approximately 1,750,000 tons of iron and steel were used in the construction of automobiles last year. "Today $1,000 retail trade units are responsible for the distribution of automobile products.

"Food products only exceed this number, there being 195,000 grocery stores. There are but 47,000 drug stores, 35,000 hardware stores, 22,000 dry goods stores and 30,000 shoe stores. In total value of output the automobile industry is second only to agriculture."

TIRES WITH 500 NAIL HOLES LEAK NO AIR
Mr. B. H. Milburn of Chicago has invented a new puncture-proof inner tube, which, in actual test, was punctured 500 times without the loss of any air. Increase your mileage from 10,000 to 12,000 miles without removing this wonderful tube from the wheel, and the beauty of it all is that this new puncture-proof tube costs no more than the ordinary tube, and makes riding a real pleasure. You can write Mr. B. H. Milburn at 333 West 4th St., Chicago, as he wants them introduced everywhere. Wonderful opportunity for agents. If interested write him today.—adv.

The 5 Bearing Crankshaft

A Notable Improvement In Four-Cylinder Design

The crankshaft in your car is the heart of the engine—upon which economy, durability and the smooth, quiet transmission of power largely depend.

In building a five-bearing crankshaft into the 1923 Gardner, the engineers of the Gardner Motor Company have adopted a principle new to four-cylinder construction, but tested and proved in many of the highest priced cars of more cylinders.

Because of this improvement in design the Gardner accelerates easily from a start to its highest speed without the vibration that impairs the service and shortens the life of so many cars. It fears no hill that any standard car will climb. Yet it combines with this performance the economy found in Fours alone.

The one-year written guarantee of the Gardner is a guarantee of balanced value. Let us demonstrate this; the story is best told on the road.

SCOUTS HOLD THREE EVENTS IN COUNTY

Many Orange county boy scouts knew more about their fathers today, and many fathers of boy scouts were admiring the new honors gained by their sons as result of events in the county last night, according to reports received here.

More than 500 boys, many of them boy scouts, and their fathers gathered in the cafeteria of the Fullerton union high school last night and enjoyed a regular "father and son" dinner given by the Fullerton "Y" association.

Promotions and merit badges were given to scouts of Districts Nos. 1 and 2 by R. R. Miller of the court of honor, held last night at Garden Grove, he reported to Roland E. Dye, county scout executive, today.

The county's "baby troop," No. 3 of Orange, held a joint meeting last night with the Orange troop committee at the Presbyterian church. Wallace Campbell, scoutmaster of the troop, put his scouts through their paces for the entertainment of the committee, it was reported.

Latest for Tom Mix and Tony is "The Jumps Ahead."

WOMEN ATTRACTED TO MODEL HOME

The "Built-for-a-Woman" model home, erected by Ashby Turner and M. D. Jiles at the corner of Garfield and Vance streets, is attracting the attention of feminine visitors, since the appeal is largely centered in the "little touches" that a housewife needs and appreciates.

The draperies and furniture installed by Chandler's furniture store blend perfectly with the French grey finish in the living room, dining room and front bedroom. English dinnerware from George Edgar graces a specially built buffet, which carries out the decorative scheme of the room. A grand piano and Victrola from the B. J. Chandler Music store provides a distinctive atmosphere for the unusually large living room. The bathroom, with plumbing installed by A. Butz, is a beauty.

Details that please a woman are numerous, varied and appear in the most unexpected, yet convenient places. Electricity and gas are in every room, with many base plugs, new tumbler switches, etc. The kitchen is the pride of the builders, with Vitrolite drain boards, all possible built-in features and a multitude of little conveniences.

A cement terrace in the rear with openings to the kitchen, dining room and sleeping porch, is a feature. Large clothes closets, linen closet, and other nooks, are essentially in the plan. The house has six rooms and breakfast nook. Turner and Jiles are completing three other new "T. and J." Santa Ana Homes—"Built for a Woman," in the same block. The home on the corner of Garfield and Vance streets is open to the public from 1 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

$20,000 VERDICT IN NEVADA LOVE ACTION

RENO, Nev., Feb. 24.—Charles Briggs, wealthy Rochester druggist, must pay Lewis Lund, miner of that town, $20,000 for alienating the affections of Lund's wife, a jury in the Pershing county district court decided. The case occupied one week behind closed doors and was the outgrowth of a divorce case brought about a year ago by Lund in which he named Briggs. Mrs. Lund filed a counter-charge and cross-complaint, seeking divorce on the ground of non-support, cruelty and desertion. The divorce cases were heard jointly in January, and the court reserved its decision pending the outcome of the alienation of affections case.

SET COMMUNITY SERVICE MEET FOR MONDAY

Dr. Elliott H. Rowland, temporary chairman of the committee in charge of establishing a Community Service center in Santa Ana, today announced that a meeting of the "invited" of the service is to be held at a luncheon at St. Ann's Inn Friday noon.

Other members of the committee are: Claude Killen, John A. Henderson Jr., Perry F. Schrock, S. B. Kaufman, Earl R. Abbey, Clyde C. Whitney, Dr. C. R. Lane, C. E. Prior, H. B. Van Dien, Walter S. Spicer, W. K. Hillyard, Harry L. Hanson, W. B. Leecraft and H. E. Yost.

In commenting on the proposed program of the Community Service Dr. Rowland declared:

To Use Leisure Time
"Community Service in Santa Ana is a part of the national movement for the constructive use of leisure time and capitalization of civic assets. Santa Ana will have the advantage of the expert help of National Community Service."

"The public-spirited citizens who have invited Community Service to come to Santa Ana to help will have the experience of experts and specialists to assist in the development of the organization and a program of activities that will reach every man and woman, every boy and girl in all sections of the city. The national organization has sent Charles M. Anderson to Santa Ana to assist and advise in the organization of Community Service."

Anderson said: "The city is starting at a logical time for a successful demonstration of civic values of Community Service. There are many cities that have for the past two years or more operated an excellent program of civic activities, including playgrounds, musical, dramatic, athletic and neighborhood programs."

"Santa Ana Community Service will soon start a program of playgrounds for the children and men and women of all ages, neighborhood get-togethers and parties, foreign centers to teach Americanization, supervised recreation for the boys and girls, a training institute for those desiring to learn play leadership and other efforts that are conducive to community health and efficiency."

"Dr. Rowland extends an invitation to all persons interested in the upbuilding and social welfare of the community to attend this meeting. Owing to the short time permitted in calling this meeting, it has been impossible to send out personal invitations to all the residents of Santa Ana. It is the hope of the committee that all will consider themselves as having been personally invited to attend."

POLY FOLK WIN SUCCESS IN 'HOTTENTOT'

Over again. The Hottentot has won! This is the opinion of those who saw the Santa Ana high school junior class play, "The Hottentot," last night in the high school auditorium.

Nearly 1000 persons saw the play—not only saw it but laughed until their sides ached.

The audience was considered wonderfully responsive and the members of the cast were forced to hold their lines for laughs time after time.

Ernest Crozier Phillips and George Gerwing, who directed the play, declared that they were more than pleased with the success of the play and stated that the offering was the best in thing that the high school students have done so far.

Management Excels

One of the outstanding features of the evening's success was the really professional way in which the stage and costume changes were executed.

The stage crew put up the sets and was ready between scenes almost before the players could get into their costumes, was the statement from those back stage.

"There was nothing slow about 'The Hottentot,'" said Gerwing today, "and I am much pleased with the way in which the members of the stage crew put over the whole job for they have worked very hard on this play."

For excellence of the sunshine effect in the first act and the moon light effect in the second and the white light effect in the third, George McGowan, school stage electrician, was receiving hearty congratulations today.

Cast Scores Heavily

The members of the cast showed remarkable ease and remained in character throughout. Never has a high school cast displayed the talent and real acting which "The Hottentot" players demonstrated last night, it was said.

The spectacular situation when nearly the whole cast on the stage showed great excitement, brought forth heavy applause. The clever pantomime and side play which went with the lines of all of the characters was equally well received.

Great credit was given the directors of the play, Phillips and Gerwing, and in fact all of those who were connected with the production.

Under the direction of S. J. Mustel the high school orchestra furnished the music for the evening and according to the many pleased comments, did itself proud.

Players Appreciative

The players are appreciative of the courtesy of Santa Ana merchants who provided them with many of the necessary properties for the play. Those are the Yost theater, Peterson's shoe store, the Robertson Electric company and Chandler's furniture store. High school students have expressed themselves many times as being much pleased with the way in which Santa Ana townspeople support the affairs at the school.

ST. ANN'S INN ROTARY NATAL FETE SCENE

With the utmost good cheer, Santa Ana Rotarians last night at St. Ann's Inn celebrated the eighteenth anniversary of the organization of the first Rotary club at Chicago and the third anniversary of the organization of the Santa Ana club.

Emphasis was given to ideals of good citizenship. Throughout the week, Rotarians have everywhere urged close attention to the making of better citizens.

An effort was made to tune in to get an address delivered over the radio at Kansas City, Mo., by Ray A. Havens, president of International Rotary.

Talk Substituted.

The effort failed, and there was quickly substituted a talk, given into a phone of a room upstairs at the Inn and thrown by megaphone into the room where the Rotarians and their ladies were gathered. The speaker was J. C. Hayden, president of the club. It was not until later in the evening that it was announced that the speaker was Hayden.

During the banquet, radio music taken from the air by the Radio Den, was supplied. Singing, led by Elmer Heidt, and piano music by C. A. Gustlin, were a part of the entertainment.

Conducts Ceremony.

Appetizing and impressive ceremony was conducted by Mrs. W. H. Spurgeon Jr. As she read the history of the growth of Rotary and the story of how it spread from country to country until today it encircles the globe, two Boy Scouts brought in flags of the countries mentioned by Mrs. Spurgeon.

A playlet, "Rotary Manufacturing Company, Inc.," which has been given by local Rotarians before numerous Rotary clubs of Southern California, was presented last night, revamped for the occasion. In addition to Rotarians who appeared in it, Mrs. H. H. Dale and Miss Pauline Jahraus took parts in a highly pleasing manner.

W. H. Spurgeon Jr. presided.

BANKERS ROUT BOLD BANDITS IN BATTLE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

ADENA, Ohio, Feb. 24.—Harry Price, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Mount Pleasant, was perhaps fatally wounded today when four masked bandits attempted to hold up the bank.

E. B. Jones, cashier, wounded one of the bandits but all four escaped. They failed to get any of the bank's funds.

Mount Pleasant is ten miles southeast of here. Auto posess are forming in all surrounding towns.

Price, a bullet through his abdomen, will die, physicians believed.

The bandits fled when Jones returned their fire as he stood barricaded behind the safe door.

All telephone and telegraph wires running out of Mount Pleasant, Dillonville and several other small towns in this vicinity were cut.

OXY GLEE CLUB'S PROGRAM PLEASURES

Residents of Santa Ana who last night attended the concert given at the First Presbyterian church here by the Occidental Glee club, today were recounting to friends the features of the program, which were pleasing throughout.

The auditorium and gallery of the church were filled with local residents.

The program was replete with life. Joyous college songs were interspersed with classical numbers.

The club membership contained several specialties and the individual and group work was excellent, according to reports of those who were present.

The program consisted of instrumental and vocal solos, quartets and club singing and a character

ST. ANN'S INN ROTARY NATAL FETE SCENE

BUDGE LACY ON FENCE AS TO CANDIDACY

Theo. ("Budge") Lacy's hat is elevated, but at a late hour this afternoon he had not loosed it and cast it in the ring as a signal that he is in the race for city marshal of Santa Ana.

Lacy, who has just returned from an Eastern trip, admitted that he is giving serious consideration to entering the fight for head of the police department, but would not state definitely that he is at this time a candidate.

It is possible he will be in position Monday to make a definite announcement, he said.

Lacy was Orange county jailer sixteen years and has hosts of friends who declare that he can wear the chief of police star for the next year and possibly for the next four years, should he be a candidate. Whether the next term for local officers will be one or four years depends upon whether voters approve or reject the charter to be voted on April 17. If the charter carries, the term will be one year.

On his Eastern trip Lacy acted as deputy United States marshal in delivering four federal prisoners held in Los Angeles. Two were returned to New York and one each was returned to San Antonio, Tex., and Raleigh, N. C. Austin H. Montgomery was one of the New York prisoners. He was identified with a company alleged to have floated worthless stock in Baltimore. He gave bond in the sum of $75,000 upon his arrival in New York. The other prisoner was William Schulman, who is alleged to have taken orders and received payment for $345,000 worth of coal and to have delivered only a small portion of the orders.

NERACAR FAVORABLY RECEIVED IN S. A.

The Neracar has attracted a great deal of attention since its introduction in Santa Ana, according to W. M. Pilgrim, the distributor for Orange and San Diego counties. The sales and service headquarters, which have been established at 513 East Fourth street, have been visited by many motorcycle enthusiasts during the past week, Pilgrim said. While a new departure in two-wheel motoring, locally, the Neracar has been manufactured by the Neracar corporation at Syracuse, N. Y., for the past seven years.

"Proof of the durability, dependability and economy of operation is offered in the transcontinental trip made on a Neracar by 'Cannonball' Baker last fall," Pilgrim declared. "Covering 3864.2 miles in 7 days, 5 hours and 28 minutes running time, using 45 gallons of gasoline and 454 pints of oil at a total fuel cost of $15.70 is the record hung up by the Neracar and the intrepid 'Cannonball.'"

"A great deal of bad weather was encountered by Baker during the record-breaking trip but an average speed of 19.41 miles was maintained. Baker is now connected with the Los Angeles agency of the Neracar."

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS SEDAN

Dodge Brothers, with equal aptness, could have named it the Family Sedan.

In the first place, it is big and roomy—a five-passenger car that will really seat five adults in comfort. There is no space wasted on superfluous adornments. Every inch of body and chassis is put to actual use.

There are no delicate cloth furnishings to be soiled by the children. The seats are upholstered in durable and attractive blue Spanish leather.

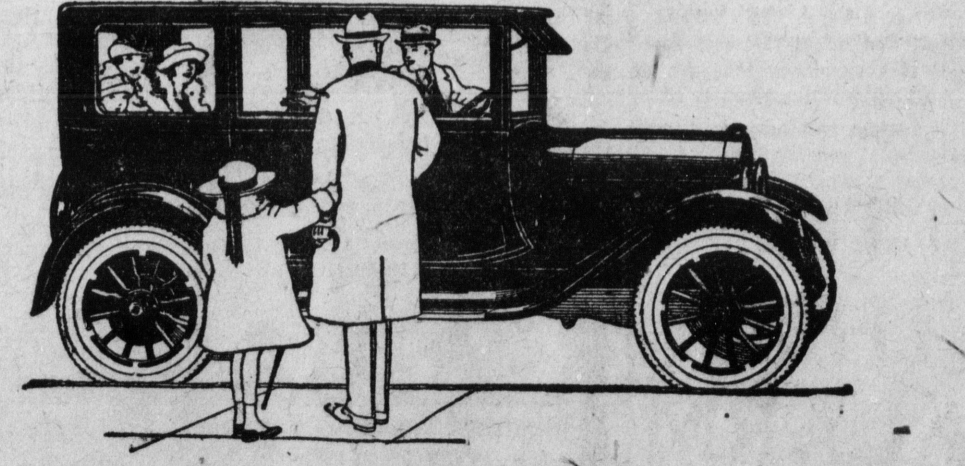

There is no sensitive varnish to be easily scratched or finger-spotted. The body is steel-built—a new principle in Sedan design—making it possible to finish the exterior in Dodge Brothers oven-baked enamel, the most durable finish known.

The rear seat furnishings come out—instantly converting the rear section into a spacious carrying compartment—handy for carrying trunks, boxes and household luggage of all sorts.

Children can romp and play to their hearts' content in this car, and when cleaning time comes, you can turn the hose on it—inside and out.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

WILL ROGERS PICTURE AT YOST TONIGHT.

A thrilling story of man's redemption is unfolded in "Laughing Bill Hyde," which will be shown at the Yost theater tonight only. Will Rogers, lariat-throwing wit of Folies fame, makes his appearance on the screen in the name role.

Misfortune halts Bill Hyde and Danny Dorgan after they succeed in escaping from prison when Dan falls down a gulch and is mortally hurt. Bill carries his pal to a doctor's home, where Dan's last hours are made as comfortable as possible. Bill later makes his way to Alaska, where he meets the doctor, who acquires a claim for treating a dying man. Bill, while searching for work, rushes to the aid of a girl, whom a drunken rowdy is attacking, and beats him off.

She is Ponotah, a half-breed, and she owns half of a mine, which the man in charge, Joseph Slayforth, is trying to rob her of her share. Bill gets a job in that mine and is instrumental in getting Ponotah her full share by methods not altogether scrupulous, but the proper kind to use in dealing with a scoundrel like Slayforth. He recovers a vast amount of gold that employees have stolen and later sells the doctor's claim with some of it, a scheme that fools Slayforth into purchasing it from the doctor. Bill's reward is the doctor's undying friendship, and the hand and heart of Ponotah.

"THE REAL ADVENTURE" AT WEST END TOMORROW.

"The Real Adventure" is truly a photoplay epic of marriage. It is the second starring vehicle of charming Florence Vidor and will be shown at the West End theater tomorrow and Monday.

Henry Kitchell Webster's popular novel proves rich in photodramatic material, starting with the chance meeting that leads to marriage after a very hasty but romantic courtship. Before the honeymoon wanes the wife discovers that she shares only her husband's heart, and not his brain.

He thinks that in giving her his love he is giving her everything. When he first understands her attitude, she leaves him, saying she will come back when, by her own efforts, she has done something that will make him respect her and want her friendship, as well as her love.

Florence Vidor, beautiful and intelligent always, is very convincing as the girl who passes through the transition period from the ideal of first romance to the bold facts of stern reality.

DOUG FAIRBANKS' COMEDY AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

The cast that surrounds Douglas Fairbanks in "The Middlecoddle" which will be the feature at the Princess theater tonight, is one of the greatest that "Doug" has ever gathered together.

It comprises such well known players as Wallace Berry, Paul Burns, Morris Hughes, George Stewart, Charles Stevens, Lewis Hippe, Albert MacQuarrie, Rush Renick, Betty Bouton, and Adele Farrington. The story for the production was suggested by Harold McGrath.

STORY OF UNDERWORLD AT YOST TOMORROW.

An unusual story of the underworld and the far-reaching fingers of the police detectives will be seen at the Yost theater, when the photoplay, "The Invisible Power" will be shown there tomorrow.

The story was written by Charles Kenyon, author of the famous American play, "Kindling." House Peters and the beautiful Irene Rich play the leading parts in an all-star cast. De Witt C. Jennings was recruited from the Broadway stage to play the role of the chief operating detective, a type he has often played on the stage.

"The Invisible Power" is not concerned with crooks in their crookedness, but with the attempts of some of them to reform and the difficulties that a past "record" places in their path. The sacrifices of the reformed thief's wife, (Irene Rich) add poignant pathos to a splendidly acted and logical story.

King Baggot is directing Gladys Walton in "Gossip."

"GIMME" AT TEMPLE IS STORY OF MARRIAGE.

It may have been sympathy for the economically dependent wife who is forced to wheedle from her husband every nickel for carfare; or it may have been sheer inspiration that set Rupert Hughes to the creation of his newest photoplay, "Gimme," which opened its three day engagement at the Temple theater here last night.

"Gimme" is one of those light domestic comedy things, seasoned with a good dash of drama.

The story, in brief, is of a self-supporting girl, an interior decorator, Fanny Daniels by name, who marries Clinton Ferris, only son of a wealthy and doting mother, who openly shows her disapproval of her son's choice by withdrawing all financial assistance and permitting Clinton to shoulder his own responsibility.

Fanny finds herself in the uncomfortable position of having to ask the none-too-wealthy Clinton for every cent of spending money. She is indebted to the extent of $500 (borrowed to provide a trousseau) to her former employer, the interior decorator, who provides complications for the plot by trying to capitalize Fanny's obligation to him. This results in a misunderstanding between the husband and wife, but things eventually are cleared up and Fanny never again has to utter the hateful word "Gimme."

Helene Chadwick, who played the role of the young wife in "Dangerous Curves Ahead," is again the wife in this one, and gives a flawless performance. The husband, Clinton Ferris, is played by Gaston Glass, a skilled young French actor who first came to public notice for his work in "Humoresque." Others in the cast, which is uniformly excellent, are H. B. Walthall, Eleanor Boardman, Kate Lester, David Imboden, Georgia Woodthorpe, May Wallace and Jean Hope.

Anita Stewart is to render the films as the featured player in "The Love Piker."

GLADYS WALTON FILM AT PRINCESS TOMORROW

Should a girl confess her past before her marriage?

The story of a girl who did not confess, and the consequences, comes to the Princess theater tomorrow and Monday with the presentation of "The Love Letter," starring Gladys Walton.

Bradley King, author of many successful screen stories, wrote "The Love Letter" especially for Miss Walton's use with the idea of providing the star full scope for her talents both as a comedienne and a dramatic actress. The winsome little star is cast as an overall factory employee, whose tendency to conceal love letters in outgoing garments involves her in complications.

King Baggot, director of many successful features, guided the filming of "The Love Letter."

Edward Hearn appears opposite the star, and George Cooper plays the heavy. Fontaine LaRue, Alberta Lee and others handle remaining supporting roles.

LEWIS STONE, BEBE DANIELS AT WEST END TUESDAY.

Lewis Stone, one of the best known stage and screen actors in the profession, has been engaged as a regular member of the Paramount Stock company and will play leads in special Paramount features.

His first appearance under the new arrangement is as a leading man in William De Mille's production, "The World's Applause," in which he is featured opposite Bebe Daniels, who plays the feminine lead—probably the strongest role in her career. The picture will be shown at the West End theater for five days beginning next Tuesday.

Stone has to his credit excellent roles in such pictures as "The River's End," "Milestones," "Held By the Enemy" and many others.

In "The World's Applause," Stone appears as John Elliott, a theatrical manager, who loves Corinne d'Alys, an actress. The latter develops a craze for publicity, despite Elliott's protest, and when she is later involved in a tragedy which wrecks her reputation, he stands by her manfully until the storm blows over and then finds happiness in her reciprocation of his love.

The theme is a timely one and the story has been finely developed by de Mille. The supporting company is an excellent one in every respect, the plays including Kathryn Williams, one of the best known women on the screen; Adolphe Menjou, a popular screen favorite; Maym Kelso, Brandon Hurst, Bernice Frank and James Neill.

Wanda Hawley is going to London to appear in a picture to be filmed by Tom Terriss.

"HOW WOMEN LOVE" AT YOST MONDAY.

How a woman's beauty can be almost fatal to her happiness and future is shown dramatically in "How Women Love," Betty Blythe's latest starring vehicle which shows at the Yost theater Monday and Tuesday.

In "How Women Love," Miss Blythe has the role of a young prima donna gifted with a "dangerous capacity for loving," who finds only just before it is too late that true love is better than the admiration of selfish, sophisticated men.

Miss Blythe is given the opportunity to wear gorgeous gowns and to prove again that she is in fully what her admirers have called her—"one of the best looking and best dressed stars on the screen." As "Rosa Roma," the young prima donna, she proves also that she has a better gift than both her looks and her ability to wear gowns.

FAIRVIEW LAND OIL DRILLING LEASE MADE

That Harold T. and Fred H. Segerstrom, of Greenville, who recently purchased the forty-acre ranch of Ray McClintock, at Fairview, have leased the property for oil, became known today with the recording here of the lease.

The lease is to Austin Brown, who is representing himself and other drillers employed on the rig now operating on what is known as Fairview well No. 2. It is understood the drillers are backed by a group of wealthy men.

Under the terms of the lease the brothers received $50 an acre cash as a bonus and will receive $5 a month an acre until a producing well is brought in. The brothers will receive one-sixth of the oil produced, if a well is brought in. It is provided that a producing well must be developed on the lease within a year, the time of starting being dependent upon completion of Fairview No. 2 as a producer. If No. 2 proves a dry hole, the lease on the Segerstrom tract terminates.

SAY SALE PLAN HERE SURE TO SWEEP U.S.

The Orange County Appleby plan for handling used cars adopted by the Orange County Dealers' association and made effective in the county this week, will result in advertising for the county that could not be bought for thousands of dollars, in the opinion of F. E. Muscovics, vice-president and general manager of the Nordyke and Marmion company, and C. A. Musselman, editor of The Auto Trade Journal, published at Philadelphia.

The two men, who are on the coast investigating conditions in the automobile industry, traveled 1600 miles—San Francisco and return—to get first hand information on the method. Following elucidation of the method by James Appleby, local distributor for the Durant, Star and Peerless lines, both were emphatic in their statements that the plan is the best they ever had heard advanced as a solution to the used car problem that confronts dealers the world over.

Declaring their intention of presenting it to groups of automobile dealers wherever possible and giving it publicity through The Auto Trade Journal, they predicted that the plan would be known all over the United States in sixty days and that it would be generally adopted by progressive dealers.

Other Visitors Here.

Accompanying the Eastern visitors were George L. Muscovics, of Los Angeles, California distributor for the Marmion, and C. M. Stevens, of Oakland, vice-president and general salesmanager for the Durant Motor company of California.

"Orange county is destined to become famous throughout the nation by reason of the development of this plan," F. E. Muscovics told dealers grouped at luncheon at St. Ann's Inn at noon yesterday. "It offers the first clear solution to the used car problem. You have started something here that will sweep through the nation and be generally adopted by progressive dealers."

Muscovics and Musselman both pointed out that manufacturers must get away from the general policy of forcing dealers to take cars beyond reasonable possible sales in their respective districts, declaring that producers must be brought to a realization of the fact that heavy production does not necessarily mean prosperity for the industry. He predicted success of the Appleby plan here if manufacturers and coast distributors would stand by dealers through periods of dull business that he believes will be a reaction of the new scheme.

From the plan down to the minutest detail, this model "T. and J." Santa Ana Home has been "Built for a Woman!" It represents years of experience in studying the needs of the housewife, and the features in this home which are not found in the ordinary house, are things that many women have asked for, wished they had, and hoped to find in a house some time.

LOCATION—one of the first things many women look for—at the corner of Garfield and Vance Streets, paced streets, 6 blocks from 4th and French, and 9 blocks from 4th and Main—convenient and accessible.

CONVENIENCES—usually looked for first by most women—there are so many "little touches" that cannot be described, that we have extended this invitation to all residents and strangers to come out and see them in person.

—at Garfield and Vance Streets

6 Blocks From 4th and French
9 Blocks From 4th and Main

FOR EXAMPLE—There is a large cement terrace in the rear, with entrances to the kitchen, dining room and sleeping porch. Built-in features include the kitchen equipment, a built-in dresser and dressing table combined in the front bedroom, a specially built Buffet to match the decorative scheme in the dining room.

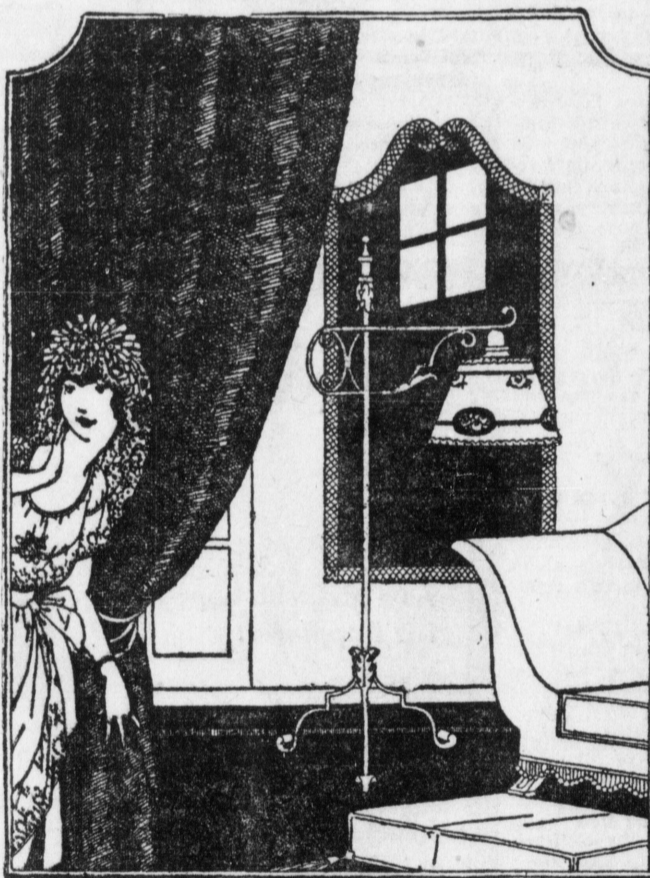

Vitriolite drain boards in the kitchen; gas and electricity in every room, with plenty of base plugs; the new tumbler switches; the papering, wood work and plastering show just enough color contrast to give distinction; the living room, dining room and front bedroom being finished in French Grey; light clusters that blend with color scheme.

This home has 6 rooms and breakfast nook, the latter facing the south. It will be open for one week, 1 to 5 P. M. and 7 to 9 P. M., and on Sunday at the same hours (no business discussed on Sunday. You are cordially invited.

TENNIS PROSPECTS
LOOK GOOD AT POLYJohnny Cress, City Champ, Again Looks as County
Title Holder

With Johnny Cress, holder of both the Poly and city tennis titles, playing better tennis than ever and with prospects bright for the development of several strong boy and girl players to help him out in the tournaments, indications today were that the Santa Ana high school net team will be able to repeat its success of last season and annex title honors in the Orange league.

Cress recently disposed of all comers in the Poly round robin tourney and his work was brilliant throughout. Although small, he is speedy and places his returns with such accuracy that many predict he will cut a figure in the Southern California interscholastic matches this spring.

Randolph Bell looms as second singles player. Bell always gives Cress a terrific match when the two tangle and the wise ones figure he will be able to ward off all of the county second singles contenders without difficulty.

Other men who are counted on to show class in the county season are Bert Wardrip, Arch Tuthill, Raymond Smith, Julius Yale and Gordon Harding.

Merritt White, former Poly net champion, is again back in school but he will be ineligible for competition. It is probable that he and Clifford Marston, a member of last year's squad, will be paired on the Junior college team.

Among the promising girl racquet sars are the Misses Frances Crockett, Thelma Patton, Josephine Crookshank and Vada Freburg. The Misses Persana Deimling, Marjorie Rawlings and Edith Playan will play with the Junior college team.

Santa Ana will clash with the Orange high school tennis players April 11 in the opening matches of the Orange league season. The complete schedule follows:

April —Fullerton at Anaheim; Santa Ana at Orange; Whittier bye; Tustin bye.

April 15—Anaheim at Orange; Santa Ana at Fullerton; Whittier at Tustin.

April 25—Santa Ana at Anaheim; Orange at Tustin; Whittier at Fullerton.

May 2—Tustin at Anaheim; Whittier at Orange; Santa Ana bye; Fullerton bye.

May 9—Anaheim at Whittier; Fullerton at Orange; Tustin at Santa Ana.

May 16—Fullerton at Tustin; Whittier at Santa Ana, Orange bye, Anaheim bye.

On the Saturday following, the county meet will be held. The place has not been decided.

AGE FAILS TO HALT CAREER OF DAUBERT

BY BILLY EVANS.

"Who is the best first baseman in the National League?" I asked Umpire Bill Klem of the National League during the world series. It didn't take him very long to answer my question.

"Jake Daubert played the best game of his career in 1922," said Klem. "Old Jake acted like a youngster. He did everything well and had a big year of it. Daubert easily was the most valuable first baseman in the National League last season."

Unquestionably, the play of Jake Daubert for Cincinnati last season was one of the remarkable features of the year in major league ball.

At 37 years of age, when most players are slipping rapidly, Daubert had a great season of it. He figured on going at top speed for three or four more years.

Made Great Record.

Daubert played in every inning of the 156 games in which Cincinnati took part. His fielding average of .993 was best in the National League, a fraction of a point in advance of Charley Grimm's mark. He batted .336, making 205 hits, of which 22 were triples—more three baggers than any other player in the league.

On his showing in 1922, if ever a player deserved to be called the "miracle athlete," Jake Daubert is that individual.

floor from a right hook of Tunney's.

Greb fought foul all during the bout. He was warned at least two dozen times by Referee Haley and several times Greb took the call down so much to heart that he offered to fight Haley and squared off in front of him.

Even if Greb had been close to winning the decision, his foul work probably would have influenced the judges against him.

Greb Tired Badly

Greb could not have gone much farther. In a twenty round bout he most certainly would have been knocked out. Tunney started with a withering body attack that had Greb all puffed, bruised, welled and cut around the middle before the tenth round. Greb was so indisposed that the bucket had to be lifted twice for him. After the twelfth round he hung on for his very life and in the fourteenth he just missed being knocked cold.

Tunney was on top of Greb every time the Pittsburgher elected to do something besides hold and clinch. He had the edge in at least nine rounds and Greb did not have a substantial margin in more than four.

Called Poor Fight

It was the unanimous opinion that it was a very poor fight and if preliminary boys had been furnishing the exhibition instead of champions, they would have been thrown out of the ring.

Greb and Tunney milled and wrestled like two awkward freight handlers. There were only about three good, clean blows landed. Tunney was rocked once with a right hook to the jaw and in the fourteenth Greb almost hit the

The teams of the Orange County Harbor league begin playing off their postponed baseball games tomorrow afternoon.

With a fighting chance to still win the championship the El Modena club, now in second place, will meet the heavy hitting Irvine team, leading the chase by a two game margin, on the stamping ground of the Bean Growers, in the day's feature clash.

A victory will definitely clinch the A. G. Spalding trophy for Irvine and big "Dutch" Heinrichs has vowed that he will put an end to the uncertainty by blanking the fast El Modena players.

Joe Sanford's aggregation will have its star fliker, "Bib" Bracamontes, in good condition for the melee. Bracamontes celebrated his return to the game last Sunday by shutting out El Toro, 6 to 0.

By a strange twist in the postponed games arrangement El Modena and Irvine have another tilt to play off in addition to the fracas tomorrow. Rain halted both brawls between the clubs in the regular league schedule.

A. F. Moulton will take his band of Van Dien-Young company diamond cavers to the Tustin high school grounds to play off their fray with the Tustin Knights of Pythias squad. Moulton announced today that Vic McKinzie, the clever Mercantile heaver, will get the mound assignment against the Tustin team.

El Toro and Garden Grove will mingle at the latter city.

The Santa Ana American Legion club will not play tomorrow, Newport having dropped from the league.

Sport Flashes

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal.—California won the fourth and final game of its conference basketball series with Stanford here last night, 33 to 17. Stanford had one game of the series to its credit.

NEW YORK.—Joe Dugan and Aaron Ward, Yankee infielders, have signed new contracts. Dugan has volunteered to play second base and Manager Huggins may shift Ward over to third base, where he prefers to play.

LYNN, Mass.—Stuffy McInnis, former Athletic star, released by the Cleveland Indians, is not sure that he will accept terms with any major league team. He has received a fine offer to play semi-pro ball and may accept.

BOSTON.—"Jocko" Conlon, captain and star of the Harvard baseball team last year, has been awarded to the Boston Braves by a decision of Commissioner Landis. The Rochester International League club also claimed him.

PHILADELPHIA.—John P. "Stuffy" McInnis, who was unconditionally released by Cleveland a few days ago, may play with the Athletics this season. Connie Mack, manager of the White Elephants, is negotiating with McInnis.

PHILADELPHIA.—A new inter-collegiate record for the 200-yard breast stroke was established by Hardin, Tiger star, when Princeton defeated the University of Pennsylvania swimming team, 45 to 17, in a dual meet. Hardin swam the distance in three minutes flat, clipping 3.2 seconds from the former mark.

CHICAGO.—Release of two infielders to the minor leagues was announced by Secretary Harry Grabiner of the White Sox. Harold Bubser, first baseman, goes to Kalamazoo of the New Central league, and Roy Ostergard has been turned over to Nashville of the Southern association.

POLY BASEBALLERS
BEATEN AT POMONA

Le Bard Hurls 2-Hit Game
But Errors Are Costly to Santa Ana Team

Despite the fact that "Barney" Le Bard hurlled two-hit baseball and whiffed a dozen Pomona high school sticklers during the session, "Spud" Morrison's Poly cohorts lost their first real encounter of the season to the Orange Pickers yesterday afternoon by the score of 9 to 5. The tilt was played at Pomona.

Le Bard deserved to win his game. He had a world of stuff on the ball and pitched a heady game but his teammates kicked the contest away for him. The local outfielders couldn't locate the ball, missing four easy flys which let in as many tallies.

The third inning proved Le Bard's undoing. The local twirler walked four men in this round, his teammates allowed a couple of more men to get on bases on errors and a homer with the sacks choked didn't help the situation much. After that spasm of wildness Le Bard settled down and chucked good ball.

Walter Wurster, Poly catcher, was the local hero with a homer and a pretty single to his credit. Howell, who went in at left field for the last frame, brought the bugs in the stands to their feet with a beautiful running catch that prevented a score.

The locals lined up as follows: Le Bard, p; Wurster, c; Jabs, 1b; Johnson, 2b; Bickford, ss; Finley, 3b; Fesman and Howell, lf; Ritchie, cmf; Thoele, rf.

Why suffer in a cold, windy touring car when it can be made so cozy and comfortable with a Clark's enclosure? It won't hurt to look at one today. See it at Sunset Mfg. Co., 414 W. 5th.

UNIQUE SCHOOL PLANNED FOR H. B. PUPILS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 24.—This city will soon be the seat of an elementary school system unlike any other in the United States. Vocational courses will be mingled with the regular grammar school classes in a building to be constructed by the Huntington Beach school directors with money recently voted by the district to cover the expenses. The voters approved a bond issue of $250,000.

This information was given out this week by Principal Clark H. Reid of the Huntington Beach grammar school in an address before the Parent-Teachers association.

Supply Individual Needs
The individual vocational inclination of each pupil is to be catered to in the new school, the principal said. Auto mechanics, wood working, sheet metal working, printing crafts, millinery, domestic science, and other courses are to be offered.

Many students never enter the high school and, as they are not taught the rudiments of a vocation in grammar school, never acquire technical knowledge to a great degree, Mr. Reid pointed out to support the purpose of the new pre-vocational school.

Advertise Town
He believes that Huntington Beach will come in for much the same kind of advertising Gary, Ind., has received by virtue of its exceptional elementary school system.

BREA YOUNGSTER IS ABLE TO CHIN SELF ON DADDY'S FINGER

BREA, Feb. 24.—It isn't every four-month-old baby under the shining sun that can grip his daddy's two forefingers and be lifted from his bed or buggy and tossed to the height of his daddy's head. But there is one very young man in Brea who can do this. His name is Phillip D. Wolf Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Wolf Jr.

And Phillip's daddy doesn't pick him up gently, either, as though he feared his son's grip would weaken. He hoists the young man right up in the air and holds him there a while.

Mr. Wolf says the youngster has been able to lift himself by his own grip for nearly a month, now.

GOATS LOOK GOOD TO GLANDMONGER

ANAHEIM, Feb. 24.—The goat herd on the R. C. Johns ranch of Cypress, may seem a little less frisky and some aged gentleman in New York may jump from his bed like a school boy (if school boys do) as the result of a visit this week to the home of the animals, represented by the California Endocrine foundation.

The foundation is preparing to put up the rejuvenation qualities of the goat glands in fluid form and distribute over the nation, the doctor said.

Dr. Dunlap was greatly pleased with the goats.

CLUB MEETS AT BANK

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 24.—The 24 Karat club held a business meeting at the Citizens' bank, Tuesday evening. Following the business session, the association enjoyed a splendid banquet served in the banquet room of the Methodist Episcopal church by the Ladies' Aid society. Twelve members were present.

CURED HIS RHEUMATISM!

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism since I came out of the army, over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have almost used 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk. I was in pain. Friends are surprised at the change. You might just as well attempt to rid a fire with oil as to try to get rid of your rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuritis, and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism and other disorders, and recover his health and strength from reading 'The Inner Mysteries,' a book now being distributed free by the author, an authority who has devoted over twenty years of his life to the scientific study of this trouble.

Anyone sending name and address to H. P. Clearwater, Ph. D., 1329-B Water Street, Lowell, Maine, will receive by mail and entirely free of charge one complete copy of 'The Inner Mysteries' and a booklet, 'Rheumatism,' which contains facts overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past. If not a sufferer yourself, you would be helping some afflicted friend by handing this good news and opportunity to him.

NOTE: As the number of copies available to readers of this paper is limited, it is advisable that you act promptly.—adv.

COSTA MESA PEOPLE LOOKING FORWARD TO CLUBHOUSE OPENING

COSTA MESA, Feb. 24.—Residents are looking forward to completion of the clubhouse being erected by the Friday afternoon club in anticipation of establishment of a center for community activity.

Construction of the first unit, which will cost $5,000, was begun last Monday. It is an auditorium, 40x85 feet, with two dressing rooms, one of which will serve as a temporary kitchen.

C. J. Phelps, Santa Ana, has the general contract and plans were prepared by Fay R. Spangler of Fullerton. Plumbing will be installed by D. A. Dale of Santa Ana, while the Simberg Electric company of Newport Beach, will look after the electrical wiring. The painting contract has been awarded to B. E. Cockrill of Costa Mesa.

A maple floor will be a feature of the auditorium. Women of the club are planning to give a series of dances. It also is planned to rent the auditorium for community affairs.

NEW THEATER FOR FULLERTON STARTED

FULLERTON, Feb. 24.—Construction of a new theater in Fullerton, to cost $75,000, will begin at once at 312-316 North Spadra road, Stanley Chapman, owner, announced following the issuance of a permit by the city building department for the structure. Immediately following acquisition of the permit engineers began a survey of the site for the theater.

The theater, it was said, will be of the most modern construction. The main section will be 60x148 feet, with an entrance section for store purposes covering a space of 70x72 feet.

BRICK FIRM SELECTS FULLERTON ACREAGE

FULLERTON, Feb. 24.—Plans for making Orange county a brick and tile distributing center, with Fullerton as general headquarters, were announced last night at the monthly meeting of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce with the report of the formation of the Orange County Brick and Tile company, entirely financed by Fullerton capital.

Construction of the new plant, to be located just south of the Fullerton pumping plant, will begin at once. The cost is estimated at $50,000. The plant will have a capacity of approximately 40,000 brick per day, with the employees working in two shifts.

According to the plans as announced last night before the chamber by W. J. Carmichael, the new plant will be in operation within the next three months and will employ about 40 men.

NEW BUNGALOWS GO UP AT COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Feb. 24.—Six new modern bungalows are in course of construction on Newport Heights along Newport boulevard, just south of Costa Mesa. This district is building up fast. Thirty lots have been sold in 30 days and nearly all the owners are contemplating building.

About 800 feet of 5-foot sidewalk is being put in on Newport boulevard between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets. This will add greatly to the new business district of Costa Mesa.

DEBATE TRYOUTS AT TUSTIN BEING HELD

TUSTIN, Feb. 24.—Over 95 per cent of the students of the local high school favored the publication of a school annual this year when a vote was taken on the question at the assembly this week. Committees have been appointed to investigate the cost of printing and plans are being made for entertainments to provide funds to meet the expense.

For sometime the staff, headed by Elizabeth McDougall, editor-in-chief, has been collecting material. Edna Phillips is assistant editor, Raymond Fisher, business manager; Miss Stella Young, faculty advisor; Grace Squires, literary editor; Charles Crawford, athletic editor; Nellie Ware, girls' athletic editor; Thelma Artz, music editor. Other members of the staff have also been appointed.

MORE DAIRY COWS

TALBERT, Feb. 24.—Twenty-five more cows were brought Friday from Los Alamitos by Mr. Thompson of the Thompson and Rogers dairy. This makes their dairy herd. This makes their few cows have recently been sold for beef. The cows brought up from Los Alamitos are to replace them.

FULLERTON HIGH SCHOOL CAST GIVES 'SHERWOOD' MARCH 1 AND 2

FULLERTON, Feb. 24.—Hailed as one of the most ambitious dramatic efforts ever undertaken by any high school cast in Orange county, the play "Sherwood," a drama of Robin Hood's time, will be produced by the Fullerton union high school the evenings of March 1 and 2.

The play was written by Alfred Noyes.

Cast Carefully Chosen
The cast has been carefully chosen from the senior dramatic department under the direction of Miss Marion Helm. There are 45 students in the cast.

The art department, under Miss Lucille Hinkle, the manual training department, in charge of A. E. Ames; the domestic arts department, in charge of Miss Henrietta Helm; the physical training department, in charge of Miss Clara Stephenson; the music department under the direction of Harold Walberg, and David Wright, and the commercial department, L. O. Culp and Earl Dyringer are co-operating on the production.

There are 45 students in the cast.

BUENA PARK VOTING ON BIG BOND ISSUE

BUENA PARK, Feb. 24.—Buena Park residents were today registering their votes on the proposal to issue $80,000 in bonds with which to purchase ground and erect a grammar school. The election was called by the school directors, George Cole, chairman; J. E. Wright and H. S. Horn, clerks.

The votes are being cast at the school house, the only balloting place. The voting started at 8 o'clock this morning and will close at 6 o'clock this evening.

Enrollment Increases
Growth in the school enrollment has made the erection of a new building necessary, according to Miss Nila Faulkner, the grammar school principal. In a year an increase of about 50 pupils has taken place, and, bringing the total enrollment up to 175 students. Last year bungalow additions were built but these have not proven sufficient to cope with the ever increasing tide of students, it was declared by the principal.

BALBOA, Feb. 24.—The marriage of Miss Alice Hester Thompson to F. R. Clayton of Los Angeles, February 16, has been announced by Mrs. Martha Thompson. The young people will make their home in the Maybelle apartments, Ingram street, Los Angeles. BUS COMPANY READY FOR SECOND HEARING ON COUNTY SERVICE

ANAHEIM, Feb. 24.—Optimistic regarding the outcome, officials of the Motor Transit Company were today awaiting the decision of the state railroad commission which conducted the hearing in connection with the stage company's application for a franchise to operate between Anaheim and Santa Ana.

The hearing was completed in Los Angeles after the company had placed fifty witnesses on the stand in support of the contention that the service is a necessity and a matter of public convenience. The commission took the matter under advisement, declaring that a decision would be handed down within thirty days.

While awaiting for this decision, the officials of the Motor Transit were preparing for another hearing to be held in Los Angeles February 26, at which time the company will endeavor to prove that the freight and express service included in its operations is an invaluable service to the public. Thirteen motor carriers and the American Railroad Express Company are interested in this case.

CCARAMOUCHE

By RAFAEL SABATINI.

Andre-Louis observed the athena pallor that now overspread the face of his opponent.

"I think you begin to realize, monsieur, what Philippe de Villemorin must have felt that day at Gavrilac. I desired that you should first do so. Since that is accomplished, why here's to make an end."

He went in with lightning rapidity. For a moment his point seemed to La Tour d'Azyr to be everywhere at once, and then from a low engagement in sixte, Andre-Louis stretched forward with swift and vigorous ease to lunge in tierce. He drove his point to transfix his opponent whom a series of calculated disengagements uncovered in that line. But to his amazement and chagrin La Tour parried it.

The sword fell from the suddenly relaxed grip of La Tour d'Azyr's fingers, which had been rendered powerless, and he stood now disarmed, his lip in his teeth, his face white, his chest heaving, before his opponent, who had at once recovered. With the blood tinged tip of his sword resting on the ground, Andre-Louis surveyed him grimly, as we survey the prey that through our own clumsiness has escaped us at the last moment.

In the Assembly and in the newspapers this might be hailed as another victory for the Paladin of the Third Estate; only himself could know the extent and the bitterness of the failure.

Andre-Louis at last roused himself, sighed, and turned away to resume his garments and left the ground at once.

As with Le Chapelier, he was walking slowly and in silent dejection, toward the entrance of the Bois, where they had left their carriage, they were passed by the caiche conveying LaTour d'Azyr and his second.

And thus it was that he was first to return, and seeing him thus returning, apparently satisfied and sound, the two ladies, intent upon preventing the encounter, should have assumed that their worst fears were realized.

CENTER OF ORANGE PRODUCTION

The Sacramento Bee insists that the center of orange growing activities in this state is moving northward.

In an editorial in which figures from the Riverside Press are quoted, the Bee dwells upon its conclusions as follows:

Rapid extension of citrus culture northward in California is one of the most striking facts of agricultural development in this state.

The horticultural commissioner of Tulare County, far north of the Tehachapi, officially reports the area there in citrus fruits to be 39,630 acres.

This is far more than the citrus acreage in Riverside County, which is approximately 24,500 acres. Yet that county for many years has been the most famous orange-growing locality in all Southern California. And although the average age of the trees in Riverside County is much greater than those in Tulare, yet the average shipments from the two counties yearly are about the same—from 4,000 to 5,000 cars.

Here are some further facts and figures from the Riverside Press, of like interest and significance:

"Orange County, with an acreage less than that of Tulare, ships about 11,000 cars; San Bernardino, with an acreage not far from that of Tulare, ships about 10,000 carloads. Los Angeles, with a somewhat larger acreage, ships about 18,000 carloads. These figures are all on what may be considered a full crop basis. The difference in yield may in part be accounted for by a considerable greater acreage of young groves in Tulare County; but there is also undoubtedly the factor of reduced yield as the trees get older, a problem that Riverside, Redlands and all the older citrus districts in Southern California have to face.

The article in the Press says nothing of the considerable orange production in Superior as well as Central California, nor does it mention the fact that the Sacramento Valley has a lemon orchard of about 1,000 acres, the largest in the world, established and conducted by Southern California enterprise, and affording further evidence of the northward tendency of the citrus fruit growing industry in the Golden State.

Comparisons involving figures for carload shipments and acreage are never satisfactory. Our own interest in these comparisons would naturally center around carload shipments, acreage and receipts for Valencia oranges only, for it is as a grower of Valencia oranges that we have and are developing, in this county, rapidly. Our navel acreage is gradually decreasing and our Valencia acreage is increasing. Valencia growing in interior counties has never been satisfactory. It is in the Santa Ana valley, close to the coast, that the Valencia is produced at its best, marketed at a time of year when the other orange growing sections of the state have few oranges, if any, for shipment.

IS THE CITY MANAGER PLAN
A SUCCESS?

Let us be fact-minded about the City Manager plan of city government. Never mind what you may have heard Tom, Dick or Harry say about it. Usually what "they say" is not true, or if technically true is susceptible of explanation in such a way as to make the exception prove the rule.

The facts are, according to the official report of the National Municipal League, 261 Broadway, New York:

1. No city which has voted to adopt this plan has gone back to the old way.
2. The plan spreads fastest in regions which know most about it. For example, it was adopted in Dayton in 1913 and has spread rapidly over Ohio and now fourteen cities of that state have it. It got an early start in three small cities in Michigan in 1914 and now twenty-seven places all over Michigan have adopted it. Likewise in Texas (seventeen cities) and in Virginia, where it governs one-fifth of the population of the state.
3. Numerous investigations, not always friendly at the start, have been made, and the reports have been invariably favorable.
4. Four out of every five new charters now follow the City Manager plan.
5. The "Model Charter," drafted for the National Municipal League by an eminent and well-informed committee including A. Lawrence Lowell, President of Harvard, is a City Manager charter.
6. Political scientists without exception consider it the best form, and the college political science courses teach it as accepted doctrine.

SUCCESS OF ORANGE SHOW

San Bernardino is to be again congratulated upon the excellence of the exhibitions at the National Orange show, now in progress in that city.

The orange show has established itself as an institution. There are many thousands of persons who have had no opportunity to know much about the San Bernardino section who do know that oranges are grown there. They know it by having read about or having visited the show.

San Bernardino deserved success, and has attained it. It deserved success because it had a vision, and had enough in the way of community spirit to attempt to make its vision come true. It attained success because it has made an exhibition worth while.

The show has grown year by year. This year's exhibition is declared by those who have seen them all to be the "best ever." Orange county joins with the rest of California in extending congratulations.

THE MEXICAN BAD MAN

Another little job for Will Hays—the Mexican government has asked him to give Mexicans a square deal in the movies.

A similar request appears to have been made some time ago, and heeded for a little while. But the picturesque possibilities of the "greaser" were too strong for the producers of Wild West drama to resist, and they fell easily back into the practice of making the criminal a Mexican.

A sort of stereotyped villain has been developed, skilled with the knife and pistol and wholly devoid of conscience and decency. Unfortunately the dramas of adventure seldom picture a Mexican in any other capacity, so that a generation of American movie patrons is in danger of growing up with the notion that all Mexicans are sneaking thieves and murderers.

Protest against this sort of thing is legitimate. Mexico has its full share of bad men, and spawns them across the border in greater profusion sometimes than Americans could wish, but of course it is absurd and unfair to give an impression that there are no other kinds of Mexicans. The nation at present is leading a pretty orderly, decent life, and Mexican relations with Americans, public and private, are vastly improved. It is right and wise to encourage such good relations in every way possible.

In Defense of the Guard

San Diego Union.

California appears to be on the verge of doing, by sheer neglect, what the "pink" radicals of Wisconsin have apparently accomplished by legislative action—destroying the national guard.

California is one of eight states allotted to make up a national guard quota of 24,500 men for the ninth corps area. This quota constitutes the secondary line of defense for the entire Pacific coast—the first line of defense being the almost incredibly small number of regular troops assigned by the war department to this important area. At the present time the total strength of the guard in this area is 10,500 men—just a little more than 40 per cent of the quota. California, assigned to maintain a force of 9,000 men, actually has only about 3,500 in its guard—a little more than one-third of its allotment, and a proportionately smaller number than the quotas raised by the other seven states.

It would be foolish to argue for a strong military force. That would be contrary to the spirit of the times and contrary to the express provisions of the present plan of national defense. Remember, please, that the allotment of 24,500 men in this area is a minimum allotment. The entire military establishment is "cut to the bone"—but our actual strength is less than 50 percent of the minimum for the area! And California's national guard is at only one-third its necessary minimum!

While few thoughtful Californians wish to see a powerful military establishment created—with its consequent burdens upon the people required to support it—all will admit the necessity of an efficient skeleton organization of trained troops upon which, in emergency, an adequate defense can be built. We are at present without that skeleton organization. We haven't even the possibility of an effective defense for the west coast of the United States.

Economy and common sense demand that we exert every effort to prevent the necessity of ever again mobilizing for defense; but they demand, no less, that we insist on preparedness for that emergency, should it ever arise. A square look at what we know of world affairs reveals, too, that we are no more secure in peace today than we were in 1914. The national guard of California demands our support today, personally and through what legitimate pressure we can exert on the leaders of our state government. Sensible citizens favor the present minimum of armament and military personnel, but they should demand also that this minimum be not lowered and be crippled through mere neglect. If ever the time comes to abolish the national guard, let us do so through legislation—not laziness.

Silk Culture In State

Stockton Record.

People with good memories recall that 20 years or so ago everybody around Stockton and elsewhere in California was trying out silkworm culture in a small way. Even the children were deeply interested in the worms and their cocoons. Mulberry trees were then common enough to furnish food for the little silk spinners, many Stockton backyards having at least one tree. The mulberries made very good wild blackberries. But that's another story. So is the fact that mulberries were "messy" in a yard and so most of the mulberry trees joined the fig tree in its banishment from city gardens.

Perhaps the sequel to those early experiments in silkworm raising in Northern California is to be found in a story in the Chico Enterprise telling of the aspirations of the Oroville section to become a leader in silk production. One Guy Wilkinson, interested in a silk factory in the city of early oranges and fine olives, is said to have brought to a high state of perfection 150,000 silkworm mulberry trees and the silk produced by the silkworms of the north is to be given a test by leaders in the silk markets of the United States and if the quality is up to standard Northern California, and that means all of us, will have another industry to be proud of. The United States is said to import raw silk totaling more than $320,000,000 in value annually.

Hindu Not Caucasian

Sacramento Bee.

The decision of the United States Supreme Court, that Hindus are not eligible to American citizenship, is most welcome to California.

There are many Hindus in this state, and a considerable number of them have been allowed to buy or lease agricultural land, under the supposition that the native races of India are of the Caucasian stock.

There has been more or less dispute or uncertainty on that score in the past, but from the legal point of view, the question is now conclusively settled by the highest tribunal in the land.

The decree in a test case brings Hindu holders of land in this state, and likewise all descendants of Hindus, under the mandatory provisions of the California anti-alien land law.

There must be no more leasing or sale of land to such immigrants from India.

But, in the case of those who, in good faith, and with no intent to violate the law, have given money or other valuable consideration for land, equities exist which should not be lightly brushed aside or annulled without some compensation or allowance.

Merely Blindness

Bakersfield Californian.

When we begin to think that all the good opportunities have been used up by those who lived ahead of us, and that it is no longer possible to become a Ford, a Rockefeller, or some other type that spells "success," we are merely shutting our eyes and refusing to see what is right ahead.

For instance, some one in the state of Louisiana has discovered that its wealth in oyster reefs and shell mounds is great enough to wipe out the state debt. The shells are used to hard-surface roads and highways.

Somebody is making a fortune out of the discovery, and it took many years to see the opportunity. Another genius has learned that prickly pears, which for a long time have been regarded as absolutely worthless, are valuable in being a substitute for gasoline which can be used to operate gas engines and automobiles.

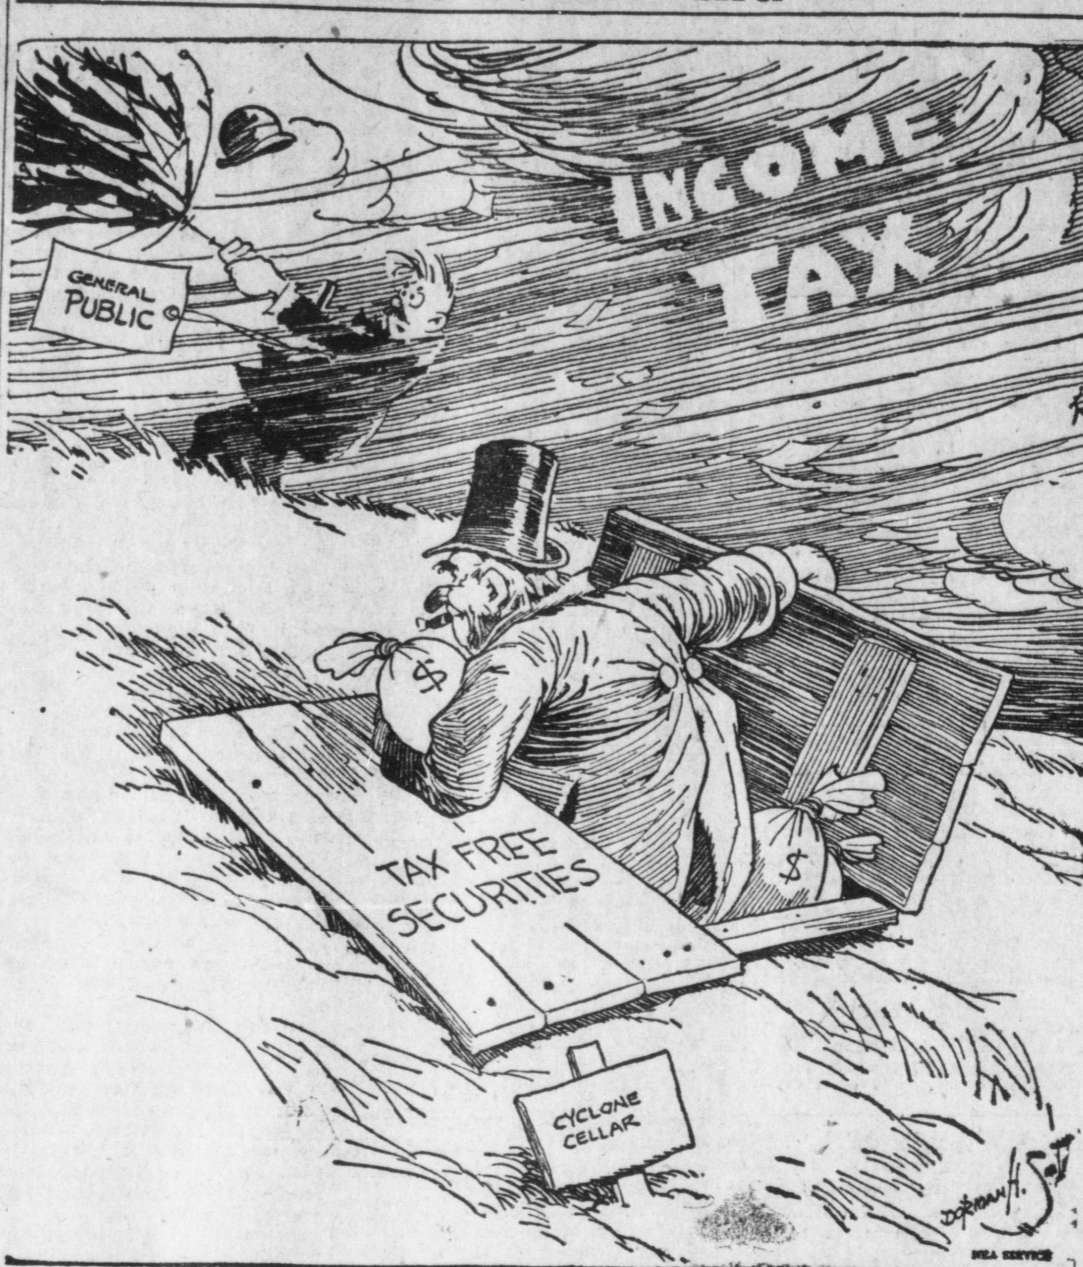

Of course, Rockefeller isn't going out of business on that account, but somebody is going to laugh at us who didn't see the opportunity before he did. As a matter of cold, hard fact, all men who assert lack of opportunity are victims of a certain kind of blindness.

When Sunday Comes

In Genesis, we find the first man a member of neither church nor family. The man of today is technically a member of both, but in the long list of other things he has joined they are almost lost.

The Whirlwind

A Good Scout at 70

Stockton Record.

Congresswoman Alice Robertson, aged 70, goes back to private life March 4, "broke," but determined to begin life anew. Never having had anyone else to depend on nor any time to be sorry for herself, Miss Robertson is not down-hearted now. She cannot resume the restaurant business which she knows, chiefly because she is bound in honor not to compete with the man to whom she sold and because she has no money. But she has a little home on a two-acre patch at the edge of Oklahoma and there she intends to start again as a truck gardener. Hard work for a woman of her years, but it will be almost spring when she gets home and nothing seems too much when one has a little house with roses, honeysuckle and dahlias growing around it on a two-acre patch and it is spring. Alice Robertson, out of a job, has already ordered seeds for garden truck and has bought a cow. There won't be any time wasted. And nobody need feel sorry for her any more than she feels sorry for herself. Self-made, poised, sensible, independent and with a little house and two acres unencumbered, even at 70 it is not a bad outlook. Particularly if she carries with her the nearly universal dream of some day getting back to the first recorded job, that of making and taking care of a garden.

Alice Robertson was not the first woman sent to Congress in the United States, Jeannette Rankin holding that honor, but she will long have a special place of respect and affection in the public mind for her level head, independence, cheerfulness and undaunted spirit. We can well spare a little of the generous admiration accorded Sarah Bernhardt to bestow on this self-made American woman who, after reaching almost the highest place in the power of the people to bestow, at 70 and "broke" is about to begin life anew with as cheery a smile as if she were starting on some delightful adventure. And she is while she feels that way about it.

Worth While Verse

UNDER THE SNOW

It is pleasant to think, just under the snow
That stretches so bleak and blank and cold,
Are beauty and warmth that we cannot know,
Green fields and leaves and blossoms of gold.

Yes, under this frozen and dumb expanse,
Ungratified by bee or bird or flower,
A world where the leaping fountains glance,
And the buds expand, is waiting the hour.

It is hidden now; not a glimmer breaks
Through the hard blue ice and the sparkling drift.
The world shrinks back from the downy flakes,
Which out of the fold of the night-cloud sift.

But as fair and real a world it is
As any that rolls in the upper blue;
If you wait you will hear its melodies
And see the sparkle of fount and dew.

And often now when the skies are wild,
And hoarse and sullen the night winds blow,
And lanes and hollows with drifts are piled,
I think of the violet under the snow.

EASY TO SAY.

One time at a dinner attended by a number of celebrities the Hon. Joseph Choate made a speech in which he asseverated that he and Mrs. Choate had lived together a great many years without an unpleasant word passing between them.
"My!" exclaimed a fellow diner to Andrew Carnegie, who was one of the guests, "I wish I could say that!"
"Well, why don't you?" asked the canny Andy. "Choate said it easily enough!"

GOOD AT SOMETHING ANYWAY.

"Do you really think so?" eagerly asked the dub, who was easily kidded about himself.
"Sure," said the caddy. "Champion hammer-thrower."

STOP that TAX LEAK

Know Your Rights and Save Money

By Swell D. Moore

ARTICLE XIV

THE ULTIMATE CONSUMER PAYS ALL TAXES

Most persons are convinced that capital should bear the nation's tax burden; that the higher rate on swollen incomes the greater the relief to the masses. That sounds all right, but let us analyze it. Every individual, and every business concern that pays taxes, passes them down the line as part of the cost of doing business, and the ultimate consumer pays his proportionate part. This is fundamental.

When we hear of a man having a million dollars income a year and paying half of a million in taxes, his tax troubles arouse no sympathy in our breasts. We are likely to say: "He should work; he has half a million left to keep the work from the door." But when we stop to consider that of the half million that went to pay taxes, a large share would otherwise have gone into productive industry, we begin to see the light.

Not that wealth should be relieved of taxes; far from it. But there is a point beyond which taxes become a penalty upon success and enterprise. When that point is reached men lose the incentive to produce. For, contrary to the popular belief, it is the desire for achievement, more, perhaps, than the love of money that furnishes the incentive for men to go on producing wealth after they have acquired a competence.

Destroys Incentive
And here we come to another effect of excessive taxation. All business carries a certain amount of hazard; every man engaged in commerce or industry of any sort takes a risk in his striving for financial success. All his business life may be devoted to the accomplishment of a single purpose—the perfection of an idea, or enterprise with, perhaps, many successive failures. As long as he knows that a single successful deal will bring economic independence he keeps up his courage; the incentive is keen. But if he knows that he must give up a third or half of his gain that success may bring, the will to achieve is weakened.

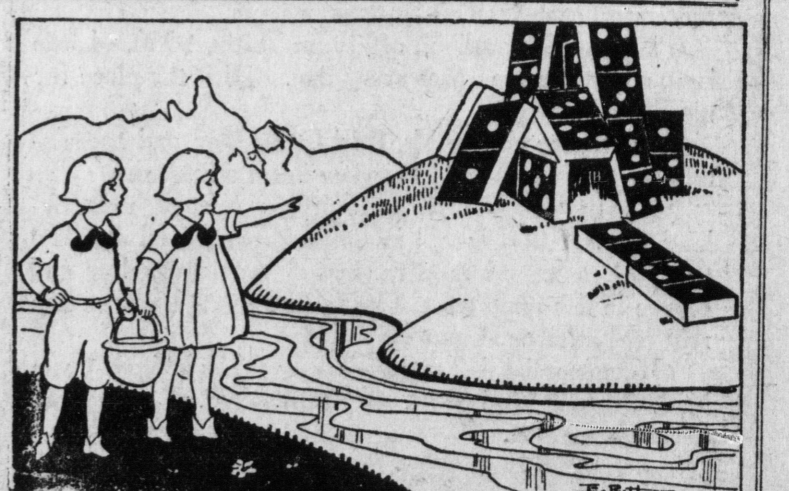

Success is built upon many failures. The ultimate reward should be great enough to compensate for these failures. Our tax laws have heretofore taken no account of these past failures, but levy excessive tolls upon profits when realized.

Now, this applies not only to those who already have large incomes. It includes the army of young men, of men who have brains, youth, ambition, energy and vision, and who, as long as they retain these qualities are bound to succeed. The incentive of economic independence must continue to exist if we are to progress as we have in the past.

Is there anyone who will say that if our present policy of penalizing financial success had existed in the past we should stand where we are today? Would we have been able to array our national resources for the world war; to harmonize all elements into a single unit of purpose if

Adventures of the Twins
The Magical Egg

By Olive Roberts Barton

The Twins left the "cut-out" lady and her chocolate-cake dog with the pink-icing ears and proceeded toward the fiery mountain. Between them they carried the basket of eggs that the old woman had given them.

Bye and bye they came so close to the mountain that their eyes began to smart with the great heat. The flames leaped so far up into the sky that it seemed they must be touching the sun.

"Let's wish ourselves over with our Magic Green Shoes," said Nancy.

"Oh, yes, let's!" agreed Nick. So, together they said a little rhyme:

"Please carry us over,
Oh, little Green Shoes.
If we would find Jack Straw,
No time must we lose!"

And the little shoes, always willing to oblige, lifted them off the ground and right over the fiery mountain.

But something happened. Just as they were above the highest part of the mountain, the flames shot up higher and yet we had not heretofore enjoyed freedom of opportunity and the knowledge that every man could keep and use a fair share of the fruits of his endeavor?

Men in the prime of life and at the apex of their mental powers to produce wealth are being taxed into retirement. That is no idle statement. A few months ago one of the leading writers on business topics in a periodical of high standing quoted a great New York financier to the effect that "there comes a point where discouragement gains the upper hand, when a man says: 'Well, what's the use? I stick to the drudgery of business. I take all the risk. I fret and worry and work and plan and stake my health, and the bulk of what it yields me is taken away by the government—not during the war when no one questions anything, but in times of peace!'"

The writer holds no brief for the rich. Wealth should bear the heaviest load. But as between productive capital and idle wealth there should be a tax distinction. Unearned income should be taxed at higher rates than earned income. We shall make that distinction in our tax laws sooner or later.

Surely no one will maintain that the man who receives $100,000 a year in interest on tax exempt bonds—and pays not a cent of taxes—is as useful to the country and as helpful to mankind as the man who earns an equal amount in salary, or as profits on a productive industry and pays a third of it in taxes; or that we can continue to permit such inequalities to exist without creating class conflict.

Mount Lassen

Mount Lassen will come into a prominence befitting the only volcano in the United States if the program of expenditures recommended by National Park Service engineers is carried out. It is a program recognizing the California mountain as a scenic and scientific asset and one which would prepare to accommodate the thousands of tourists who will visit its slopes.

An expenditure of $1,304,000, over a four-year period, is the recommendation of George E. Goodwin, Chief Civil Engineer of the Park Service, to Stephen T. Mather, Director. Practically the whole amount would be spent for roads, with a very small amount for horse trails, foot trails, telephone service and small buildings.

It is only in the last year that the West began to realize that Lassen is a wonder-mountain. The Lassen Volcanic National Park Association of California has made it a business to inform the nation of the many attractions the peak possesses. Largely due to the initiative of this organization is the recognition which is carried in the engineer's report.

With good roads winding up the sides of Mount Lassen it will stand as an invitation to the tourists of the world.
